

LEAGUE PLANK IS COMPROMISE

Old Guard Prevents Johnson Making Convention Speech

Californian's Forces Will Not Go to Wood Now

(BY DAVID LAWRENCE)
CHICAGO.—Everybody was, no body lost. That's the only interpretation which can be placed upon the unanimous adoption of the plank in the Republican National platform with respect to the league of nations. Everybody except possibly Leonard Wood and thereby hangs a tale. It has much to do with the future of Hiram Johnson and much to do with the fortunes politically of Gen. Wood.

Back in Washington, all the senators, including the group of irreconcilables led by Senators Johnson, McCormick and Borah, made a gentlemen's agreement that they would not favor the treaty and Wilson league in Chicago. But former Senator Murray Crane who isn't a party to the agreement, insisted on an affirmative statement favoring ratification of the peace treaty "with proper reservations." He almost won his fight. He had a majority with him but a threat from the Borah-Johnson group that they would carry the battle to the floor caused the board of strategy who are running this convention to take serious counsel as to what might be the effect, first, of a Johnson victory on the league issue if he made an impassioned speech and, second, what might be the effect of a Johnson defeat if the delegates instructed for the California Senator were released. Certainly, if Mr. Johnson won his fight on the platform, they reasoned that he would be the logical nominee of the convention for president. And if he lost, the delegates previously held by Johnson would flock to Leonard Wood as they have shown signs of doing. Indeed, the statement by Johnson threatening to carry the fight into each state where delegates instructed for him might desert was a confession of his loose hold upon them. Once he was eliminated by the convention, however, they would really have no hesitancy in flocking to the standard of some other candidate. Now there is a group of leaders who don't want to see General Wood nominated. They, it was, who counseled with the Johnson forces and even went so far as to pledge their help in keeping the Johnson delegates in line. And they won. Johnson holds his delegates, stays in the convention and in the party. The only battle scars are those left by former Senator Crane, of Massachusetts, who is assured that when Johnson has been eliminated and a candidate is nominated, the platform plank adopted by the convention affords sufficient leeway for the new standard bearer to favor the ratification of the peace treaty itself. Mr. Crane was compelled to back down from a specific statement favoring the ratification of the treaty to the expression of a general principle supporting the idea of international conference and co-operation.

PROGRESSIVES IN A. F. L., WIN

Overthrow Two Majority Reports in One Day

MONTREAL.—The administration of the conservative wing of the American Federation of Labor was threatened Friday by the progressive element. The progressives, headed by James Duncan of Seattle, who Thursday overthrew two major reports of the organization committee, were prepared to again contest the Gompers forces for power. Union leaders declared that the progressives were planning today to overthrow the annual convention to lay the foundation for a food distributing and producing department yesterday, had shown the most formidable power in years. They conceded, however, that with President Gompers back in the chair today the conservatives probably would gain control of the situation. The progressive element, including the Pacific coast delegates and those of the garment workers' organizations, were planning today to fight for the radical recommendations for the relief of the workers. They also seek the release of political prisoners, lifting of the Russian blockade, recognition of the Russian soviet government and a declaration against the league of nations. They will, however, support the Irish resolutions.

HARDING TO FILE FOR SENATOR

Will Mail Declaration if He Fails At Chicago

BULLETIN—COLUMBUS, O.—Senator Warren G. Harding informed the Columbus Dispatch that he will file as a candidate for renomination to the senate if he is not nominated for president at Chicago by midnight tonight. Midnight Friday is the last hour for filing for the Ohio primaries in August.

Senator Harding sent this word from Chicago, where his name was to go before the Republican convention as a candidate for president.

"I would not think of taking the vice presidential nomination," Harding said. "I would infinitely rather be senator from Ohio and if I cannot be senator from Ohio, I would rather run my little newspaper at Marion than to be vice president of the United States."

Senator Harding said he understood that if he mails a letter at Chicago before midnight tonight containing his declaration of candidacy, it will be a legal compliance with the Ohio statute.

ALLIES IN CRISIS

May Abandon Spa Conference Since German Election

LONDON.—(By Associated Press.)—Possibility of the abandonment of the Spa conference between representatives of the allied governments and Germany is being discussed in European capitals.

The success of the Independent Socialists and the Conservatives in the German elections leads to the belief in France that Germany is less than ever inclined to carry out the treaty. This belief, with the prospect that Giovanni Giolitti, former Italian premier, will form a new ministry in that country, said to have moved Premier Millerand of France to oppose any further yielding on the question of the German indemnity, from the Spa meeting. It is recalled that Signor Giolitti opposed Italy's entrance into the war, and it is said his foreign policy includes resumption of full relations with Germany.

Joseph C. Butler of Youngstown, O., who boasts of the distinction of having cast the first vote for Abraham Lincoln, is still active in Republican politics, as is shown by the fact that he attended the Republican conclave at Chicago. He donned a Harding badge.

Johnson Bolt Still Threatens if Delegates Are Bought

(BY J. W. FISHER.)

CHICAGO.—A few minutes after the third session of the Republican national convention was called to order at 11 a. m. Thursday, it became apparent that there would be nothing doing in getting the report of the resolutions committee before the assembly at that time, due to the fact that a fight was still on concerning the league of nations and the Mexican plank.

It was announced that the subcommittee had agreed on a platform draft, but that the report would not be ready for several hours. Without further ado, Chairman Lodge entertained a motion to adjourn until 4 p. m., arbitrarily ruling that the ayes were in the majority when large numbers of delegates asserted that the nays were the most numerous. The steam roller methods for which Lodge is noted were apparent in this decision on the vote taken, much the same as on other previous occasions when he did not even give possible negatives an opportunity to vote, announcing that motion prevailed without calling for the negative.

ASKS AID IN HUNT FOR BABY

Mother of Blakely Coughlin Appeals to Nation

KIDNAPED NINE DAYS AGO

Parent Collapses as She Finishes Writing Help Call

NORRISTOWN.—(By Associated Press.)—Mothers and children throughout the country are appealed to by Mrs. George H. Coughlin, mother of 13-months-old Blakely Coughlin, who was kidnaped nine days ago, to help her find the baby. When she concluded writing the appeal, which was blotted with her tears, she, mother collapsed.

"I appeal to every mother and child in the United States to help us find my baby," Mrs. Coughlin said. "Surely some one will see and know my boy."

"If there is a strange baby in your neighborhood, please, oh please, find out who he is and where he came from, for he may be my child. "Don't be afraid to send us information. I promise harm will come to no one. All we want is our baby. "Even those who took my boy must and will realize my anxiety, and they will feel sure that we will keep our promise if they will only give us proof that they have Blakely safe and well."

Mrs. Coughlin appended a description of the stolen baby, which said he was 32 inches tall, weighs 30 pounds, has large blue eyes and light hair, and is stockily built for a child of his age. He had no defects, she said, and the only mark is a slight, almost invisible scar over the right eye-lid. He had four upper and four lower teeth when he was kidnaped, with two other teeth about to make their appearance. These may have come thru since.

G. O. P. SCORED BY GOMPERS

Condemns Labor Plank Adopted At Chicago

MONTREAL.—The labor plank adopted by the Republican national convention was condemned here by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor. He referred especially to the section of the plank providing for the settlement of public utilities strikes by tribunals similar to the Beach-Cummings transportation act of 1920.

The plank, Mr. Gompers asserted, is directly contrary to what labor has demanded of the Republican party.

"We had asked the convention to go on record in favor of the repeal of the compulsory arbitration sections of the transportation act," he added, "but the Republicans agreed to have not only refused our suggestion, but would extend it to all utilities."

Mr. Gompers arrived here from Chicago, where he had presented labor's demands to the national Republican platform committee.

CREDIT OF $45,000,000 EXTENDED TO GERMANY

Means Provided for Food Purchase by U. S. Firms

WILL COVER 22 MONTHS

$10,000,000 More Than Amount Given Last Year

WASHINGTON.—(By Associated Press.)—An additional credit of $45,000,000 has been extended to the German government for the purchase of meats and other foodstuffs by large American packing firms, said a report received Friday by the department of commerce from the American commissioner at Berlin.

This credit, which is $10,000,000 more than that extended by the same firms last year, will cover deliveries during the next 22 months.

The foodstuffs thus made available, together with the scheduled delivery of several hundred thousand tons of corn from Argentina, should greatly relieve Germany's food shortage, it was said.

INDICTMENTS QUASHED AGAINST WOOLEN MEN IN FEDERAL COURT

NEW YORK.—Indictments charging profiteering against the American Woolen Companies of New York and Massachusetts and William J. Wood, president of the corporations, were quashed by Federal Judge Mack.

Judge Mack sustained a demurrer interposed by Charles E. Hughes, special counsel for the defense, which held that woolen goods did not constitute wearing apparel and therefore did not come within the meaning of the Lever act.

WATER SUPPLY IS CUT BY HEAT

City Used More Than Pumps Secured Thursday

The hot weather Thursday resulted in the establishment of a record in the consumption of water in Lima, according to Service Director Elmer McClain. The total consumption for the day was 2,278,000 gallons more than could be pumped in to Lima lake with the pumps going at full capacity, according to the records at the pumping station.

The water consumption was the heaviest between 5 and 9 o'clock in the evening, when rains were being sprinkled. For this period water was used at the rate of 8,000,000 gallons per day.

It is pointed out by the service director that the loss for the day was really in excess of the figure shown here as this is merely the difference in the amount of water pumped and the amount used, in addition to this there is a leakage which effects the stage of water in the lake to a great extent, McClain said.

UPROARS FOLLOW NOMINATIONS

Wood and Lowden Are Given Noisy Ovations

WILL NAME CHOICE TODAY

Session to Hold Until Party's Leader is Selected

COLUMBIAN, CHICAGO.—(By Associated Press.)—Up to noon Friday the Republican national convention had heard General Wood and Governor Lowden placed in nomination and was proceeding toward the nominating speeches for Senator Johnson.

An uproarious 40 minute demonstration followed the nomination of General Wood by Governor Henry Allen of Kansas, Frank Knox of New Hampshire, the Wood floor leader, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York, sister of the late Theodore Roosevelt, delivered the Wood seconding address.

Mrs. Robinson, describing Leonard Wood as a man of Theodore Roosevelt's type, brought the convention to its feet repeatedly as in ringing tones she denounced the Wilson administration for its course in the world war.

The Lowden procession apparently were as well organized for demonstration as the Wood forces and they carried on an uproar on the floor and in the galleries.

Miss Dorothy Disney, a daughter of a Muskogee, Okla., delegate was carried about the hall on the shoulders of two of the Oklahoma delegates.

The Lowden procession seemed to be making some concessions of supporters from the various state spaces as it moved about the hall. The Connecticut delegation fell in with it.

SENATOR LODGE announced amid more cheers that the time had come for the convention to hear nominations for the presidency. Alabama passed when the roll call of states began. Arizona yielded to Kansas. In a noisy demonstration Governor Allen was escorted to the platform and began his speech nominating Wood.

Senator Lodge shook hands with Governor Allen and the crowd cheered, waving Wood pennants, hats and handkerchiefs.

During Governor Allen's recital of General Wood's record of public service, the Wood supporters interjected frequent cheers.

There was much moving around among the delegates, however, and a mild rumble of conversation kept up. When many Wood boosters in the gallery and they kept breaking in with applause, an Governor Allen recounted the achievements of his candidate.

At the concluding word of the nominating speech thousands of many colored turkey feathers which have been the convention badge of the Wood people were tossed from the ceiling of the Coliseum and floated down over the cheering delegates.

WOOD DEMONSTRATION The lights were turned on to give the photographers a chance while many of those on the floor mounted chairs and waved Wood banners.

Approximately 200 delegates, perhaps more or less, were taking part in the cheering and flag waving. Many of these on the floor yelled like Indians and they looked like Indians, with the hair of the women and the collars of the men decorated by the falling feathers.

When the governor made a crack at William J. Bryan's celebrated dictum about a million men springing to arms overnight, he looked down at where Mr. Bryan was sitting in the press box. But the Nebraska had his nose to his manuscript, trying to write an industriously while a plump woman writer was shouting through the narrow aisle behind his chair. If he heard the reference he did not let on.

Governor Allen worked hard at his speech and the perspiration rolled down in catenaries over his quickly wilted laundry. While his speech was going on arrangements were made for Governor Lowden's nominating speech to follow General Wood's. Arkansas delegates, next on the roll, said the state would yield to Illinois.

California, next in line, was to name Senator Johnson, disposing of the "big three."

"It's Wood, let's go," seemed to be the motif running thru the confusion of shouting. In one corner a bunch of roosters kept up a continual tom-tom of ignorant Philippine music.

PARADE IS STARTED "It's Wood, let's go," also was printed on many of the blue and white banners waving over the Wood roosters. When the demonstration had been on about ten minutes, an inevitable procession started. It was led by delegates from Minnesota and it started snaking its way about the convention hall just as Senator Lodge had come to the front of the platform and rapped for order. He went back again and sat down as the parade gathered momentum.

It looked strange to many of the old timers to see women for the first time among the marchers. Changing their slogan, the circulating Wood people took up "We Want Wood" as their marching cry.

California supplied flags to various friendly delegations to be waved in the interest of Johnson. The several delegates from Nebraska favorable to Wood immediately commenced their when the procession started.

The convention managers saw prospects of a long session when the demonstration went on and on. They guessed the supporters of the other candidates would try to outdo the Wood people with the result that balloting might be long delayed.

In the gallery behind the platform a big group of men and women started yelling "Wood, Wood, Wood," in an endless, rhythmic, and somewhat unmasked a noise-maker that kept time to the yell and sounded like a large buck saw.

CHAIRMAN OUTDOED. When the noise had lasted for 15 minutes Senator Lodge tried again to get order but the demonstrators only replied with a renewed outburst of noise. At that time the parade had almost died down but the general faithful were not willing to keep quiet or sit down.

At the 20 minute mark post the delegates showed signs of quitting but the galleries kept up the din, cheer leaders standing in many of the sections and whooping it up every time there seemed any possibility the demonstration would end.

The "Wood, Wood, Wood" repetition made an easily recognized imitation of soldiers marching. It broke out intermittently and continued with the monotony and the back-saw conception almost drowned the blarney of tin horns and the cheering in other parts of the hall.

During the demonstration Frank Hitebeck, supreme chief of the Wood forces, was on the platform conferring with Frank Knox, his floor leader.

When the noise-makers had been at it for half an hour, the still was going strong and the chairman was making no further attempt to put on the lid.

A few minutes later, however, Senator Lodge renewed his pounding with the gavel, but all the road it did him was the gymnastic benefit of the exercise.

Most of the delegates seemed to be willing to agree with Senator Lodge that the convention ought to go on with its work. For the moment they sat still and waited for a word.

DEMONSTRATION ENDS. At 45 minutes the first hushing was attempted by the delegates and galleries themselves.

The delegates cheered when Senator Lodge at the end of 45 minutes, said the delegates all were in their seats and that the galleries would be cleared unless they quieted down. The announcement got the desired result and at once Senator Lodge presented Frank Knox, of New Hampshire to second General Wood's nomination.

While the Wood demonstration was running plans for the Lowden counter part were in progress. At the heads of aisles were men with flags and Lowden photographs ready to be unfurled as soon as the Illinois governor's name was offered.

Mr. Knox, a former private at the rough riders, told the convention that New Hampshire, the Granite state, regarded him "not as a son of the state, but a son of the whole nation."

FIRST WOMAN SPEAKS. The speaker got a lot of cheer, but not so much as Mrs. Leigh Robinson of New York state, still in mourning for her brother, Colonel Roosevelt, when she took the platform to second General Wood's nomination. The first woman ever to perform that function in a national convention, she got a rousing ovation when she was introduced by Senator Lodge. To stop the demonstration Mrs. Robinson waved her hand.

She spoke with a clear carrying voice, with crisp enunciation, apparently heard with ease to the depths of the hall.

Mrs. Robinson declared she wanted Leonard Wood for president, not because he was her brother's friend but because he is his type of man.

Mrs. Robinson spoke in a well pitched ringing voice.

"I can speak for one of the mothers of New York State," she said, "who know it was because of the foresight and courage of Leonard Wood that their sons went overseas for fighting and not as cannon fodder."

MRS. ROBINSON CHEERED. Mrs. Robinson spoke feelingly with a direct forceful delivery which reminded many of her brother. The crowd cheered when she said:

"We want the man who makes them. We want the man who makes them. We want the man who makes them. We want the man who makes them."

"We must have the kind of a man for president who will look from America out and not from Europe in."

"No man can tell me," said Mrs. Robinson, "that the Theodore Roosevelt or Leonard Wood been in the White House the Germans would have marched thru Belgium to nothing more than the ringing words of a protest. We never want again a man who waits between right and centrality."

She was loudly cheered at the end of her speech.

Senator Lodge soon got a hearing, however, and the roll of the states was continued. Arkansas yielded to Illinois and Representative William A. Rodenburg of that state, was presented to nominate Governor Lowden.

A big man with a big voice, Representative Rodenburg spoke without manuscript, beginning deliberately and then warming up the Lowden supporters up to repeated cheering.

Representative Rodenburg got his greatest applause when he came to his encomium of Governor Lowden as a business man and an administrator of ability in economic and financial lines.

As soon as the speech was over the Lowden demonstration began, his delegates among his supporters carrying large pictures of the candidate tacked to wooden standards. A procession got under way almost immediately, headed by four delegates bearing aloft a six foot banner of the governor.

A long banner urging "a business man for president" was carried in the Lowden procession.

tion until a presidential candidate has been nominated. The prospects were for an all-day and possibly a night session.

At 10 o'clock the secretary began reading the roll of states for nominations. Alabama passed and Arizona yielded to Kansas for the nomination of General Wood by Governor Henry Allen. Antagonists of the platform battle swept away the prospect of a long session.

Who would receive the highest gift in the party's power was as much in the lap of the gods as ever. Field marshals for the "big three," Wood, Johnson and Lowden, expressed confidence. They made no specific claims, to more than the veto pledged to their candidates by primary action.

The balance of power still lay with the more than 500 uninstructed delegates. Despite days of missionary work among them, scouts of the leading candidates had learned little or their state of mind. It remained for the first ballot to reveal any decisive drift of sentiment in the rank and file of the party.

NOMINATING SPEECHES. First on the program came the nominating speeches. To get these swiftly out of the way, the convention met at 9 o'clock instead of 11 as on previous days. Further steps toward short circuiting useless and often tiresome oratory were taken in connection with seconding speeches.

Under the rule adopted, each candidate may be seconded in two five minute addresses. He may have as many seconds as he likes, but if he elects to have more than one, none of those who speak for him may talk more than two minutes.

Under this ruthless curb on eulogists, the first ballot should be reached by mid-afternoon. Indications are that it will show the favored candidate of the major candidates lined up virtually solidly. It will bring out, too, the full "favorite son" strength, already discounted by the announced purpose of various delegations to this convention.

MACHINERY AT WORK. With the first ballot recorded and its half and quarter votes tabulated, workers for the various candidates will have material on which to work intelligently. On the next vote, the favored son strength will begin to disappear. The delegates, their duty of courtesy done, being free to join in the fight on candidates possible of nomination. They will begin the round of quick floor conferences, the trading and dickering that all the wheels of a political convention toward the ultimate choice.

The second ballot is certain to show some changes, always prevailing in the wheels of a political convention. A nomination of a candidate has not made further vote an unnecessary. From the second one, step by step, strength of the leading candidates may be expected to wax or wane until either a deadlock occurs or one of the trio emerges as master of the situation.

Frank Knox's movements spring out of deadlocks. Up to the time the convention assembled there was every indication that a triangular deadlock between Wood, Johnson and Lowden would be broken on the first counting of noses. For that reason dark horse promoters had been busy thru the night, planning and working in order to be prepared to attempt a coup when an opportunity came.

CLIMAX OF LEADERS. Out of these activities and also of the vigorous maneuvering of leaders and lieutenants of the leading candidates came a new crop of reports overnight.

Wood supporters affirmed that he would show a strength in excess of 500 on the first ballot. Some placed it at 550 and it requires 500 to nominate a president. Knox claims had not exceeded 250. The sum of the expected additional 100 or 200 was not disclosed by the claimants.

Lowden supporters also were active. They asserted that they needed only the adherence of a strong eastern delegation to the Illinois governor's standard to put him over. It was an open secret that they were flirting with the big New York representation, pledged to Nicholas Murray Butler, at the outset of the campaign. Wood strength in the ranks, but the ultimate action of the majority was yet undecided.

Johnson supporters were very active openly during the evening hours. They treated the convention camp to a taste of old time methods in the way of bands and banners and a stump oratory at the curb. What they were doing otherwise toward torpedoing their opponents without weapons was not so clear. They made no claims beyond asserting that the Californian would show a steadily growing strength as the balloting proceeded.

DARK HORSE ACTIVITY. Dark horse activity was very deep beneath the surface. Workers for Governor Sprout of Pennsylvania; and darkest of them all, for Charles Evans Hughes, were reported as conferring and negotiating but there was no outward evidence of their labors. One report had it that a group of men who were to hold important places in the party councils had caucused in preparation for putting Judge Hughes forward at the right moment with sufficient faithful strength to give the movement a winning impetus. If so, they were careful to obliterate the traces of their operations.

There was a marked quiet among the avowed adherents of Herbert Hoover. In fact, doubt seemed to prevail that he would be placed in nomination at all; but plans of his supporters were not revealed.

Delegates were busy Friday with press copies of the platform as it was adopted. The great majority had bought only its general drift when Senator Watson, chairman of the resolutions committee, presented the draft that was uproariously approved. Relief over the fact that an open rupture on the league of nations issue had been averted and party bitterness restored outweighed all other considerations at that time.

Undoubtedly, the struggle on the league issue has had an effect on the candidacy of the chief aspirants to the nomination. It brought the party to the brink of disaster and the aftermath, the chips and shavings and discarded league planks left by the platform framers when they finished the job, has not all been swept up, but none of the candidates professed to be anything but elated by the result, radically differing as their views on the league question may be. There was no means of ascertaining the strength any of the chief trio may have gained or lost because of that outstanding clash of the convention.

Senator Lodge, chairman of the convention, did not expect that the presidential nominee would be selected in time to permit balloting on the vice presidency before Saturday. There are almost as many vice-presidential nominees as there are presidential candidates, but they have received only passing attention in convention circles at large thus far.

The question of naming a candidate for vice president is interwoven with the result of the presidential race. Political considerations, based on the part of the country from which the two candidates hail and the party's strength therein, always influence the vice presidential selection. As a rule it has been the custom of all parties to pick a man for the strength he would add to the ticket in a crucial point, so generally were not inclined to attempt to cross the vice presidential bridge until they came to it and cross.

DETROIT, Mich. — Seven persons were killed and thirteen injured in a violent electrical storm which swept Detroit and vicinity late Thursday. The dead included four members of the Northwestern High school baseball team who had taken refuge under a tree when the storm began.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE IS READY FOR COUNCIL. Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt announced Friday the new traffic ordinance for the city of Lima will be ready for presentation to the city council at its next meeting.

Outstanding features of the new ordinance, according to the mayor, will be changes in the parking regulations. On Elizabeth-st. West and North-sts. it is proposed to require all cars to park parallel to the sidewalks, due to the narrowness of these streets.

There will also be provisions restricting drivers from passing another car at street intersections, and making the car on the left responsible in case of accidents when both cars are moving in the same direction.

Due to the number of arrests made for violation of the ordinance, restricting parking within ten feet of fire hydrants, suitable signs are proposed in the new ordinance, for warning against parking in these districts.

DENY DETECTIVES ARE EJECTING TENANTS AT KENTUCKY MINES. BLUEFIELD, W. Va. — In telegrams sent to Governor Morrow of Kentucky and Attorney General Palmer, T. L. Tolls, head of a detective agency with headquarters here, declared that none of his men was in Pike county, Kentucky, at this time. Fred Moore, an official of the United Mine Workers, sent messages to Governor Morrow and Attorney General Palmer Wednesday night, in which he declared miners were being ejected from company houses without due process of law, but the private detectives

FORMER LIMA RESIDENT PASSES AWAY AT LORAIN. W. H. Bennett, for some years an undertaker in the rooms now occupied by the Moose home, N. Elizabeth-st., died in Lorain, Thursday night, according to word received here Friday by H. H. Hamilton of the City Undertaking company.

Bennett was engaged in the ministry before entering the undertaking business. He came here from the southern part of the state. While it is not known, it is believed death occurred in the hospital in Lorain. He resided at 209 Chesnut-st., Elyria. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 o'clock at the residence in Elyria.

Flashlights on G. O. P. Camp

The oppressive heat which has been a convention visitor for the last two days is beginning to take its toll of heat prostrations. Seven or eight people had to be assisted from the convention floor. They were taken to the emergency hospital in the building and no serious results and expected in any of the cases, according to Dr. John D. Robertson, medical official in charge.

The rumor spread rapidly late yesterday that Senator Lodge was a heat victim and had fainted as he was leaving the convention hall. It was started when "Jim" Preston superintendent of the senate press gallery sought to conduct the senator thru the hospital in order to avoid the jam in the Coliseum annex. As Lodge was leaving the building a man rushed up, stating he was sorry to hear the Senator fainted.

"Do I look like a fainting man," Lodge snapped. The sympathizer disappeared in the crowd.

Senator Lodge has introduced his famous horizontal striped shirt to Chicago. He has worn one every day he has presided, and as a result some duplications are appearing in shop windows.

Down in a cool secluded corner of the "Catacombs" of the Coliseum is what Goldsmith might call "The deserted bar." Four years ago it was jammed to overflowing every day.

Senator Lodge, usually very calm and dignified, is breaking up more convention furniture than any chairman in many years. His first "rough stunt" was to cave in the top of his table by several vigorous whangs of the gavel. Yesterday he broke the convention gavel which is made from a raft of old Independence Hall. The mallet of the gavel flew off and dropped on the head of a policeman. A new gavel that looks very much like a big dumb bell that was furnished Lodge and to protect the table from his poundings a two inch board was placed over it.

CHICAGO. — This convention finally is getting some place worth while. Today, Sam Adams of Virginia, who is conducting a feverish campaign for his nomination as vice president, handed out several barrels of rosy red apples to hungry delegates. They were the first things that have been delivered by any candidate which could be swallowed, and Adam's nomination by acclamation now is an even money bet.

Bill Allen White of Kansas, announced today that he expected Henry Allen to sweep the convention on this simple statement: "When I was a barber I sold them only what they asked for."

Speaking of profiteers, Governor Lowden declared tonight that an Oklahoma friend of his who was engaged in the manufacture of jack rabbit sausage took the prize. Arraigned on a charge of mixing horse with rabbit meat, the defendant pleaded he mixed his product only fifty-fifty.

"One horse to one rabbit," he explained, when urged.

Four-fifths of the members of the revolutionaries committee at various times today adjusted some cut little windows in their room so as to admit more air. When the word got around that there was no glass in the window frames, the committee on ventilation ceased activities.

HAILED AS MAN TO SCOURGE BOSS

(BY LABERT ST. CLAIR.)

Johnson Offered As Purifier of Republican Party

NOMINATED BY WHEELER. Would End Rule of Masters, He Tells Convention

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press.) — Hailed as the man to "scourge the last of the bosses from the temple of the Republican party," Senator Hiram Johnson was formally nominated Friday for the Republican presidential candidacy by Charles S. Wheeler, of California.

"The American voter everywhere is saying of California's son," said Mr. Wheeler, "just as Roosevelt said of him—'of all the public men in this country today, he is the one with whom I find myself in most complete sympathy.'"

"To the end that men and not masters shall administer the great trusteeship of the Republican party; to the end that this convention may make no mistake; to the end that you hold in your hands the party's destiny and that it may go forth from these halls triumphant in the assurance of certain victory; to the end that a Republican administration may once again broadcast the nation with happiness and prosperity; to the end that the constitution of our fathers and the highest traditions of the American people shall endure; to the end that the patriotic principles and the lofty ideals of Washington, of Lincoln, and of Roosevelt shall live on and on and on—the sovereign state of California places before you in formal nomination—Hiram W. Johnson."

The orator described Senator Johnson as the man first brought forth for presidential honors by California after 70 years of statehood, and left no controversy in recent political history untouched as he described the senator's career.

Mr. Wheeler attacked the argument of political geographers against candidates from the far West.

"California would say to such men that this progressive world of ours has been moving right along," he said. "That the course of empire has steadily pursued its westward way; that the hand and brain of man have not only spanned rivers and levelled hills, but they have now leaped athwart the ether and hewn highways thru the very heavens themselves 'until the East and the West are one.'"

"The California delegation claims the right to speak authoritatively for the 'Yankee' and file of the Republican party. It bases the claim upon the fact that it was sent to this convention by the stupendous majority of 169,000 American citizens, who in literal truth hailed from every nook and cranny corner of this nation."

"By every sign of the Zodiac, this should be a Republican year. The disgust for the party now in power is universal. But not withstanding all this, there has never been a time in the history of the Republican party, when a failure to name the right candidate would so surely spell party defeat."

"This proposition may be laid down with axiomatic certainty: The November election will not be won by the platform of either political party. The personality of the candidate—and not the party affiliation—is going to elect the next president of the United States."

AVIATORS IN LIMA FOR A SERIES OF FLIGHTS. Pilot H. G. Boonstra and Mechanic Earl Desmond arrived in Lima Friday morning in a Curtiss airplane in which they will make flights here. Both Boonstra and Desmond were pilots in the army.

Flights here will be made in a plane belonging to the Service Aviation training and transportation company of Vahaca, Indiana, in which they have been making flights in Canton for the past two weeks. At Canton they took 102 passenger on flights, Boonstra said.

The men have erected quarters for their plane on the Alonzo McClain farm 1 1/4 miles south of the city, from where they make flights.

PRIZES FOR SCOUTS. Scout Executive E. F. Stallsmith announced Friday individual prizes have been provided for each member of the winning team in the field day events at Fauror park on flag day. Flashlights, mirrors, camp sets, treasure belts, writing sets and toilets kits for use in camp are among the prizes to be given the winners.

MAKE PAVING CONTRACT. Contracts for the paving of two sections of Holmes-ave. and a part of Dingledine-ave, let recently to Summers and Hardin, were signed Thursday afternoon and the bonds were executed Friday and sent to the city solicitor for approval.

PROSPEROUS INDIANS BUY U. S. CERTIFICATES. BISMARK, N. D. — Twenty-eight Indians of the Fort Berthold agency, Elbow Woods, have bought $25,000 of Treasury Department Savings certificates, according to an announcement made by E. C. Kibbe, director of the Ninth District Government Savings organization.

These certificates cost the Indians $83 each and will pay $100 on January 1, 1925. They are being issued by the Federal Reserve Bank in the names of the individual purchasers. Fourteen of the Indians bought $1,000 each, the other purchases ranging from $500 to $900 each.

BARRELS OF "FISH" TAKEN FROM TRAIN GOOD SCOTCH. ST. ALBANS, Vt. — The most expensive fishing trip (and this is not a fish story) that every occurred in this locality was staged when United States customs officials Peter Marango and W. E. Fuller had seventeen barrels of "fish" taken from the train. The barrels were opened and after removing about a dozen fish nicely packed in ice and sawdust the officials began pulling out quart bottles of Canadian Club Scotch and White Horse. In each barrel they found from twenty-five to thirty-one bottles, about 500 bottles in all. It was estimated that the shipment in Boston would be worth over $5,000.

wanted to remain in the Republican party. And it is being convincingly represented to Senator Johnson that he better keep an eye to the future, that while the country may thank him too radical today, the Republic can party might not object to picking him four years hence if he plays ball. The Lowden generals, for instance, are whispering that Governor Lowden is for a one term plank and that if Senator Johnson plays ball now, he will improve his chances of getting the support of the regular Republican organization in 1924.

OLD GUARD TRIUMPHS. It looks as if the Old Guard has outwitted Johnson and at the same time prevented the nomination of Leonard Wood. There is still a determination to try to push Lowden thru to victory. The Old Guard is counting upon the Johnson delegates to hold firm on the first few ballots at least. Gen. Wood will, of course, lead. Then it is the purpose of the Old Guard to let Lowden come to the front and pass General Wood if he can. Of course, if he doesn't make headway, an adjournment recess will probably be taken during which the real agreement on a candidate will be made. Herbert Hoover isn't generally regarded as having a chance but there are some friends among the delegates, particularly Murray Crane of Massachusetts who may pull Hoover thru it there is a sudden break toward a dark horse. On the other hand, an under current of suggestion about Harding of Ohio, and Knox of Pennsylvania, former Justice Hughes, of New York, still persists. But it is early to talk of the dark horses. The elimination of the three leaders—Wood, Lowden and Johnson—will first be accomplished, before the board of strategy admits it is considering alternate candidates. That should come on Saturday or Monday. (Copyright, 1920)

MAYOR ORDERS VACANT LOT WEED CUTTING. Weeds on all vacant lots within the city limits must be cut. This is the decision of Mayor Frank A. Burkhardt Friday following numerous complaints from property owners. "I am communicating with the city solicitor today," said the mayor, "as to how to proceed to enforce the cutting of weeds on vacant lots. They are unsightly, in addition to being a menace to health and a nuisance to persons owning property next to lots which are grown up with weeds."

The mayor said the matter would also be taken up with the board of health.

LOWDEN LIKENED TO LINCOLN

Rodenberg Presents Name of Illinois Favorite Son

EMPHASIZES AMERICANISM

Says He Has Vision But Is Not Visionary

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Likening Gov. Frank O. Lowden unto Lincoln and telling the delegates to the Republican National convention that once before many years ago Illinois was called upon to furnish a man when the nation was in dire distress, Congressman William A. Rodenberg, of Illinois, placed the name of Illinois War Governor in nomination for the presidency of the United States.

Congressman Rodenberg's speech in part follows:

At no time since the birth of the Republic has there been greater need for the exercise of calm, deliberate and dispassionate judgment in the selection of a standard bearer than there is today. A spirit of rebellious unrest is abroad in the land. On all sides are heard murmurings of discontent. The times are pregnant with the prophecy of gloom and despair. Confidence has disappeared and the splendid optimism of former days, once our proudest national asset, has given way to an ever-present fear of impending disaster. For seven years the ship of state, straining in every timber, has been drifting in a sea of uncertainty. Its pilot confused and bewildered by strange voices in the air and lured on in its vacillating course by false lights along the shore, nine anxious months still lie before us and if perchance, it should be our good fortune to avoid the rocks of destruction it will be due solely to the mysterious workings of a merciful Providence that guides and protects the destiny of a chosen people to their time of trial and tribulation.

Illinois, the state whose soil has been sanctified by the blood of the immortal Lovejoy, our first great martyr to the cause of free press and speech, gave Abraham Lincoln to the Nation in 1860, and Illinois the state that is still the well spring of republican hope and inspiration, stands ready in 1920 to consecrate to the service of the Republic another of her great sons—one, whose brilliant record of public and private achievements is the very best and surest guarantee that under his leadership our beloved country will be raised from the obliquity into which it has fallen and again placed on the road that leads to national honor and national glory.

We present him to you because we believe in his rugged Americanism, the Americanism that comes from the close contact with the plain people. Born of humble parentage in the State of Minnesota, his early youth and young manhood were spent on a farm in the State of Iowa. It was there, close to nature and nature's God, the great school of human experience, the school that has given to the nation its best and truest men, that he formed those sterling traits of character that have ruled his life and have left their impress upon his every act.

We present him to you because he stands for law and order and constitutional government. Of fine legal mind and training, with both legislative and executive experience, he believes in re-establishing the power and prerogatives of every branch of the Federal government as set forth by the Fathers in the Constitution itself and he is unalterably opposed to executive usurpation of any legislative or judicial function.

We present him to you because his record demonstrates that he has a clear and comprehensive conception of the proper relations of capital and labor to each other. His work as Member of Congress and as Governor of a great industrial state, with all its complex and diversified interests, stamps him as the living embodiment of the doctrine of the "square deal."

We present him to you because to him the American flag, whose stars and stripes have been baptized in the best blood of American patriotism, symbolizes the strength and the power and the majesty of a mighty nation and he believes that the flag should command respect at home and abroad and give full and ample protection to the humblest American citizen, wherever it may be unfurled to the breeze.

Delegates, a solemn responsibility rests upon the republican party today. Many difficult and perplexing problems, social, economic and industrial, growing out of the world war are pressing for solution. The best constructive ability of our great constructive party must be utilized in the solution of these problems. In the crucial and critical period upon which we have now entered the National demands as its Chief Executive a man of clear brain and steady nerve, a man of vision but not a visionary, a man of ideals but not an idealist, a man of works and not of words. Illinois has such a man. We present him to you as our candidate for President. We present the patriotic governor of a patriotic state, Frank Orren Lowden.

WOOD LAUDED AS "PLAIN, BLUNT"

Allen Presents General As Outstanding Candidate

HIS RECORD IS REVIEWED

Declared as Man Who Never Dodged a Duty

CHICAGO. — (By Associated Press.) — Described as the "outstanding candidate in the minds of the whole people," Major General Leonard Wood was formally nominated by Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas for the Republican presidential nomination.

"A plain, blunt man, with a blunt belief in facts," Governor Allen said of General Wood, "he is today the best known American."

"No man in America has been given so many constructive things to do in this generation, and no one denies that whatever he has undertaken he has done superlatively well."

An unexpected period of confusion has come upon us, in aftermath of the great war. Old ways are lost and leadership, hesitant and indecisive, drifts upon an uncharted sea. Under the weak hands of a timorous government and social disorders and class-minded isms caught from the world struggle have grown to alarming proportions.

ANSWERS BUSINESS NEED

"You ask for a business man. We present to you a record of four years as governor of Cuba, a record which gained him international fame as the most successful civil administrator the country has known. Leonard Wood's services in Cuba constitutes a page of history which records the cleanest and most unselfish thing one nation ever did for a needy people. Chosen to work out the benevolent policy of McKinley toward the people of the island for whom we had sacrificed our sons, he was given a free hand.

"A president must be able to interpret the shadow of coming events. We do not need to speculate concerning Leonard Wood's foresight."

"When the great war broke upon the consciousness of the American people with a terrific shock, it found that Leonard Wood had been preparing. We heard from him no platitudes about a million men springing to arms overnight. On his own initiative he established the Pittsburgh training camps, created the first line of the national defense and gave to the thousands of magnificent young American men who volunteered a new definition of loyalty, a new opportunity for service, a new vision of their national obligation."

TASKS ACCOMPLISHED

"We saw him accomplishing whatever task was given into his hands with the cheerful obedience of those who submerge self in service. In our state, where he trained many of our splendid young men, inspiring them with his spirit, fashioning them into the 29th division."

"We watched him go away to the point of embarkation and then at the last moment we read with consternation that his great desire to take his division to the field was not to be granted."

"This man was no whimperer. Not an hour was lost in sulking. Not a word was wasted in criticism. Not an instant spent in mourning over his personal disappointment. We see him coming back to train another division.

DID NOT DODGE

"No endeavor of his life presents in truer colors his calm and steady strength than the work at Gary. It was the old quarrel that took him there—the struggle between those who hire and those who toil, the only form of civil strife which government still allows to menace a helpless public. He carried to that district the guarantee of fair play. He had been advised not to go Gary. He was told the situation was full of dynamite. He could have sent a subordinate, but he went in person and dominated the situation by the force of absolute justice. Not a shot was fired or a bayonet used. "Again at Omaha in the racial riots, in West Virginia in the labor troubles, he visualized not military power, but the peculiar determination which should be always the American pledge to protect the rights of all by firm and righteous government."

"With full appreciation of the challenge of the hour, I present the name of the man who fits the hour—Leonard Wood."

BAY RUM AND WOOD

ALCOHOL CAUSES "DEATH"

LEAVENWORTH, Kan.—Edgar Wilson was discharged from a hospital here the other day after the coroner had been notified to investigate his death.

Wilson was taken to the hospital when he was found lying in the street, apparently dead. Wilson's "death" was said to have been due to a combination of bay rum and wood alcohol.

TRICKERY IS ALLEGED

COLUMBUS.—Charles Q. Hildebrand of Wilmington, former state secretary of state, has announced that he will oppose Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith of Zanesville for renomination, and thereby hangs a tale. Rumors have it that a Cleveland negro editor named Harvey Smith also will contest for the nomination for secretary of state on the Republican ticket. By his entrance into the race, it is said, the backers of Mr. Hildebrand hope to confuse the voters and split up the vote that otherwise would be cast for Secretary of State Smith at the August primary.

BIG CLASS TO BE GRADUATED

Dr. Glenn Frank Will Deliver Address at Memorial Hall

At appropriate exercises to be held at Memorial Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, a class of 135 young men and women, seniors at Central and South high schools, will be graduated. Of that number 101 graduates are from Central High, and 34 from South High. This is the first graduating class from South high school.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Glenn Frank, editor of Century Magazine. Dr. Frank will have as his subject "A Liberal Education." He is a speaker of exceptional ability, and Lima school authorities feel fortunate in obtaining so prominent a man to deliver the commencement address.

In January, 1919, Dr. Frank became editor of the Century Magazine. He is declared to be one of the best posted men in America on sociological and economic matters. Connected with Northwestern University he was a power in the administration and since 1916 has occupied a responsible position in Boston with respect to the International Congress of the Chamber of Commerce and its relation to after war trade relations.

In addition to the graduation exercises for high school seniors, a class of 16 young women, members of the normal training class at Central high school, will also receive their diplomas. Guy Butler, president of the board of education will present the diplomas to high school and normal graduates.

PRICES SENT UP BY REVOLT

Food Demands Increased by Mexican Uprising

MEXICO CITY—The recent Mexican revolution was remarkable for its absence of serious bloodshed. It had one feature in common with previous revolutions—it caused a tremendous hike in prices.

Every Mexican revolution has been accompanied by certain common characteristics. Scores of farming people becoming frightened, hurriedly pack up and the demand in the cities begins to increase. Simultaneously, speculators get busy on all sides.

The overthrow of Carranza and the circumstances leading to that event were no exception to the rule. As residents of the capital began to stock up with provisions, fearing a siege, prices mounted apace.

In one month the price of charcoal indispensable in native kitchens, rose from six centavos a kilo to 15. In July 11 centavos. The same period witnessed the following increases in staple commodities: Potatoes, from 25 to 40 centavos a kilo; sugar, 70 centavos to one peso; beans, 25 centavos to 35 centavos; corn, 11 centavos to 18 centavos; tomatoes, 15 centavos to 70 centavos. All these prices are the high. A centavo is half a cent in American currency. The increase in vegetable prices was general. The price of cauliflower jumping from 15 to 50 centavos a head.

Corresponding increases occurred in meat prices. "Filete," the best cut of steak sold in Mexico, arose in price from one peso eighty centavos to two pesos, fifty per kilo. Spring chickens that formerly sold for seventy-five centavos doubled in price. Hens that had sold for one peso, twenty-five centavos are now selling for three pesos.

So marked was the increase in the price of native Mexican products that it was almost as cheap to buy imported American canned goods, which remained more nearly stationary in price.

Today it is believed the peak of high food costs has been reached. Not only is production expected to increase but the revolutionaries declare they intend putting a curb on the speculators and at the same time may remove, or increase, some of the duties on imported products.

BENZO-GAS. NEW AUTO FUEL INCREASES MILEAGE

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—A new motor car fuel has made its appearance here. The composition is known as "benzo-gas." It is a combination of gasoline and benzol. The new "joy fluid" has been adopted by a taxicab company here. It is said to increase the mileage of automobiles from 25 to 35 per cent.

$5,000 PAID IN PARIS FOR A SINGLE EGG

PARIS.—Five thousand dollars has just been paid in Paris for one egg. The cost of living? No the cost of art. The egg was one on which was painted an exquisite miniature dating from the eighteenth century.

Make Your Own BUG KILLER P. D. Q.

You can easily make at home a full quart of the strongest bug-killer for 35c, enough to kill a million bugs, roaches, fleas and ants. This recipe will not burn, rot or stain the clothing and is entirely different from any other formula we know of, as this will kill the eggs. Procure of your druggist a 35c package of "Fosky Devil's" P. D. Q. then you will have the chemical made expressly to kill bugs, roaches and fleas. It is a powerful disinfectant and will kill the eggs of the pest. Look for the devil's head on every package.

Lima Brickmason Has Now Overcome All His Troubles

Declares since he took the new root and herb remedy, Dreo, that his backache, constipation, and liver trouble have disappeared—overcame catarrh.

"It is great to feel well once more, and be free of pains and aches," said Mr. Philip Archinal, the highly respected brickmason, of 412 West Haller-st., Lima, Ohio.

"I am 63 years old, but feel young and supple. This Dreo medicine has knocked all that backache out of me. Brick-laying is the supreme test on a man's back, and mine was giving me a lot of trouble. It hurt me to stoop over. My kidneys were out of condition, and I frequently had headaches, dyspepsia, and gastritis, also bothered me. My liver was lazy, and I got very bilious. I had catarrh of the head very bad. I'd be all filled up every morning with mucus, and it would take several hours before I'd get it cleared up. I've always believed in the old style root and herb remedies, so when I learned that Dreo was made from the juices of twelve different herbs, I bought a bottle. It sure got to work on me quick, my bowels began to act free and easy, my liver took on new life, and threw off the excess bile; by tonic cleared up, and with my head almost clear, showing that the catarrh is much better. By the time I take a couple more bottles, I'll be as well as I ever was in my life."

Dreo acts from the bottom up, and the results are usually lasting, for it removes the causes, instead of just patching up the symptoms. It thoroughly cleanses the system of its impurities, increases the appetite, restores shattered nerves, relieves gas on the stomach, drives out rheumatism and banishes catarrh. All good druggists now sell Dreo, and it is highly recommended in Lima by Balwin's Central Drug Store, corner Main and High-st.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW
GETS BIG HAND
AT CONVENTION

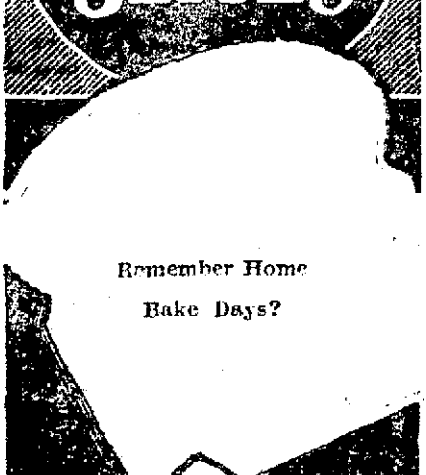

Chauncey, badge and all, snapped at the convention hall. Cries of "Where's Depew?" and "Bring on Chauncey!" interrupted proceedings at the morning session of the second day of the Republican national committee and quiet wasn't restored until the picturesque G. O. P. veteran was escorted to the speaker's platform. Altho eighty-six years old, Depew walked erect, with firm step, and spoke in his old-time witty style. He was roundly cheered.

TO RETURN $1,000,000 IN BACK TAXES TO INDIANS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—Black taxes amounting in the aggregate to approximately $1,000,000 will be returned to members of the five civilized Indian tribes by more than half the counties in Eastern Oklahoma. Lands granted the Indians were untaxable under the terms of treaties upheld by a recent ruling of the United States Supreme Court. The taxes were paid from 1908 thru 1911, when the matter was taken to the courts.

This Man Intends to Keep It In the House

"In May or June, 1913, I sent to you and got four bottles which were worth many dollars to me. They enabled me to go to work again. I had lost 40 pounds, but these 4 bottles of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble gained back all I had lost and I feel like a new man since. I shall keep it in the house all the time." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Hunter's.

SUSIE SMART SAYS:

Dear Miss Smart: I am a woman of thirty years. My husband is ten years older than myself and has two children. One of them is married — the daughter whom I raised. Now the boy is come to stay with us. He has been here four years and my husband hasn't been real good to me since he came.

When he is not here my husband is good to me and when he is not here he is good to me. I don't want to say anything but my husband is here and he is not here. He has been here four years and my husband hasn't been real good to me since he came.

He buys things on time and he gives them to me. When I tell him that I don't want a thing he says that I am a fool. He says that I am a fool because I don't want a thing. He says that I am a fool because I don't want a thing.

He says that I am a fool because I don't want a thing. He says that I am a fool because I don't want a thing. He says that I am a fool because I don't want a thing.

want them and in order to have them would give you money. To go without bread because there is no flour would make almost any man turn money to buy flour.

The little money you are able to earn you should spend on clothes for yourself. I you look out for yourself just your husband and his son will have more to put for you. You cannot possibly keep the respect of your husband and the boy unless you do it perfectly. Don't ask if you can buy certain things simply do it and don't say anything about it afterward.

Do not pay for things the boys buy and let them do it. The father can be asked to pay but not you.

It is a good idea to give up your own pride. I see your husband wants it. When you married you did not mean to become a slave. Marriage should not break you will show your husband that you can be a help to him if he is if you try.

Dear Miss Smart: Will you please recommend some good tooth powder. Precipitated chalk seven diam.

powdered camphor one half dram, powderedorris root, one dram. Mix by sifting several times thru coarse muslin.

Dear Miss Smart: I want to have my girl come to our house to dinner. Should I invite her? I should my mother, ROBERT. It would be better for your father to invite her.

Dear Miss Smart: What do you think a young girl should do when a boy winks at her? What kind and color would you suggest for a graduation dress? BERTALY.

She should not show that she notices the wink. A simple white wash dress would be the most appropriate for graduation.

AND FOR ENGLAND LONDON — University College and its hospital and medical school have been offered 1,247,000 pounds sterling by the Rockefeller Foundation to be devoted to teaching and research work according to the Daily Mail.

IN ASYLUM 45 YEARS. OUT; LOVES HIS BATH

PROVIDENCE R. I. — Anthony Baden Durfee spent his days living in a bathtub. So they put him in Butler Asylum. They kept him there forty-five years. They have released him the court finding that Anthony was not insane at all. He left his bathtub to take a reporter.

You will have to excuse me said he politely. I am just from the bath. I am tired of living in an asylum. Forty-five years is enough, don't you think? I don't know where I shall live yet, but I'll let my relatives help me choose a place.

Attorney Edward J. Noonan who fought the case against Durfee says he has no objection to the patient's freedom so long as his property is properly administered. Attendants at the asylum say that besides his obsession for cleanliness the patient abuses automobiles and will walk miles rather than ride in a motor or electric car.

HARDING TO GET SECOND PLACE

Plan Shown by Slackening of His Workers

HALFHILL NOT A PROPHET

Fourth District Republicans Aspirants Thick at Chicago.

(By J. W. Fisher)

CHICAGO—"The convention is not expected to get anywhere today," said James W. Halfhill, of Lima, one of the delegates from the fourth Ohio district to the national Republican convention, Thursday morning just before the convention went into session.

"I understand that the resolutions committee will not be ready to report until 3 p. m., and whether a fight will be precipitated, I could not say. Just at this time I have not the least idea who will be the nominee of the convention."

C. D. Crites, former Lima banker, now a resident of Chicago, was encountered in the Harding headquarters at the Congress hotel Thursday morning and informed John Cable, Judge George Quail and others that upon no less authority than Harry Daugherty he had been informed that an effort would be made to nominate Governor Lowden of Illinois and that if that plan failed, energy was to be centered on Warren G. Harding. The impression was given out that Lowden would likely be nominated on the third or fourth ballot.

There is a growing indication, too, that Senator Harding had been framed for the vice-presidential nomination. A slackening of efforts about the Harding headquarters indicated that there might be more than a modicum of truth to this statement. Further color was lent to this supposition by the announcement that Frank B. Willis had filed his declaration as a candidate for United States senator, to succeed Harding, now on his first term. However, it is common report that should Harding fall of nomination here he would file for United States senator at the eleventh hour on June 11th and that Willis will then withdraw.

Judge George Quail, F. H. Downing and Walter Scott, watching the deliberations from the outer circle, were still hoping Thursday that there would be no split and that an amicable adjustment of platform difficulties would be effected.

Three candidates for the Republican nomination for congress from the fourth Ohio district brushed elbows at the Harding headquarters Thursday—John Cable of Lima; L. A. Pearson, of Covington and J. E. Russell of Sidney.

The report that the Harding presidential boom is being permitted to collapse and that the Ohioan will accept the vice-presidential nomination—if he can get it—was given added color Wednesday night when Congressman Clint Cole addressed a large assembly at the Harding headquarters, talking about the weather, the crops and about everything else save the Harding candidacy. There is a feeling among Harding backers that such a deal has been entered into, and which may have its fruition sooner than expected.

The conviction, deliberately arrived at by politicians and newsmen alike, that the Coliseum arrangement is poorly managed and the convention as a show is a failure, still prevails and grows with the passing days. Mayor Ralph of California is here, passing out the word to convention visitors that his city on the coast will put up the best effort ever staged by any city in entertaining the Democratic convention, beginning June 28.

By long odds the greatest demonstration ever held in and about the Auditorium Theatre in this great city was that in honor of President DeValera of the Irish Republic, Wednesday night. Fifty thousand people participated in a procession and while three overflow meetings were being held, 5,000 people acclaimed DeValera for 30 minutes, waiting until 11 p. m. for him to appear. A plank in the Republican platform that "Ireland be permitted to work out her own destiny without outside interference," is not wholly satisfactory to the Friends of Irish Freedom. They seek recognition by the United States of the Irish Republic. They hope to attain better success with the San Francisco convention.

Wednesday night and Thursday morning presidential row was a riot of action, as the contending forces were preparing for the final struggle. As it became apparent that the fight on the league and Mexican planks in the platform would be carried to the convention floor and the danger of a split in the party loomed more menacing, efforts were redoubled and the final demonstrations were frenzied in their character.

Bands playing, motion picture machines running in large assembly rooms in the big hotels, depicting the activities of various candidates, were only minor details of the spectacular campaign being waged for presidential aspirants. Lavish expenditure of money by the various organizations is becoming more apparent. Nothing is being overlooked. The choicest of nature's bloom—ornaments—are being pinned to the lapels of the coats of delegates by women with the compliments of Governor Lowden, of Illinois. The Republican Glee Club of Columbus is giving an almost continuous performance in the Harding headquarters outside of convention hours. Last night the Kentucky delegates were received in a body at the Harding headquarters.

Five hundred policemen have been detailed for duty at the Coliseum. About their only task is to keep the sergeants at arms from blocking the aisles. Their caps remain glued to their foreheads when the convention is opened with prayer.

When Senator Lodge was made permanent chairman of the convention, he stated that he would make no speech. Remembering his "key-note" speech after having been elected temporary chairman, the newspaper fraternity heaved a sigh of relief, remembering the paper shortage.

Ambitious, zealous and anxious newspapermen and press association representatives waited up most of the night, Wednesday, while the committee on resolutions battled over a plank affecting the league of nations and the wires were kept hot all during the night, recording the fight made by the "no league" group of the party against those who want a league with reservations. As it became apparent that the fight would be carried to the floor of the convention, the newsmen prepared for a long drawn session.

That the convention is in the grip of Wall street bankers is conceded. If anything was necessary to impress this fact, the retention of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge as permanent chairman proved it. The hand of Penrose, Smoot, Crane, et al is apparent. Borah, Kenyon and McCormick are fighting the eastern capitalists who would continue control of the party in the present and future as in the past. The contest is a bitter one and as the situation now looms, the stand patterns must yield to the progressive wing of the party if a split is to be averted.

If the millions of money that is being expended for literature in behalf of the candidates and measures was used in another direction relief could be afforded to probably every deserving charity case in the United States and the paper shortage would at the same time be relieved. Chicago is just now a vast waste paper basket. Tons of printed matter is scattered about the streets, in hotels and about the Coliseum. No one has time to read all the literature thrust upon them.

She is a foolish wife who is jealous when her only rival is her husband's business.

G. O. P. NATION LEAGUE PLANK

A summary of the platform adopted by the national Republican convention Thursday evening, with the exception of the league of nations, Mexican and Armenian planks, was published in The Lima Daily News and Times-Democrat Thursday. The league of nations, Mexican and Armenian planks, as adopted Thursday are as follows:

LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The republican party stands for agreement among the nations to preserve the peace of the world. We believe that such an international association must be based upon international justice and must provide methods which shall maintain the rule of public right by development of law and the decisions of impartial courts and which shall secure instant and general international conference whenever peace shall be threatened by political action, so that the nations pledged to do and insisting upon what is just and fair may exercise their influence and power for the prevention of war.

We believe that all this can be done without the compromise of national independence, without depriving the people of the United States in violation of the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair, when the occasion arises, and without involving them as participants and not as peace-makers in a multitude of quarrels, the merits of which they are unable to judge.

The covenant signed by the president at Paris failed signally to accomplish this purpose, and contained stipulations not only intolerable for an independent people but certain to reduce the injustice, hostility and controversy among nations which it proposed to prevent.

That covenant repudiated to a degree wholly unnecessary and unjustifiable the time-honored policy in favor of peace declared by Washington and Jefferson and Monroe and urged by all American administrators for more than a century, and ignored the universal sentiment in America for generations past in favor of international law and arbitration. The unfortunate insistence of the president upon having his own way without any change, and without any regard to the opinion of majority of the senate, which shares with him in the treaty-making power, and the president's demand that the treaty should be ratified without any reservation, forced senators to vote upon their consciences and their oaths according to their judgment, according to the duty as it was presented, or submit the demands of a dictator in a matter where the authority under the constitution was theirs and not his.

The senators performed their duty faithfully. We approve their conduct and honor their courage and fidelity and we pledge the coming republican administration to such agreement with the other nations of the world as shall meet the full duty of America to civilization and humanity in accord with American ideals and without surrendering the right of the American people to exercise its judgment and its power in favor of justice and peace. Pointing to its history and relying upon its fundamental principles we declare that the republican party has the generous courage and constructive ability to end executive usurpation and restore constitutional government; to fulfill our world obligations without sacrificing our national independence; to raise the national standard of education, health and general welfare; to re-establish a peace time administration and to substitute economy and efficiency for extravagance and chaos; to restore and maintain the national credit; to reform unequal and burdensome taxes, to free business from arbitrary and unnecessary official control; to suppress disloyalty without denial of justice; to repeal the arrogant challenge of any class; and to maintain a government of all the people as contrasted with government for some of the people, and finally, to allay unrest, suspicion and strife and to secure the cooperation and unity of all citizens in the solution of the complex problems of the day, to the end that our country, happy and prosperous, proud of its past, sure of itself and its institutions, may look forward with confidence to the future.

MEXICO.

The ineffective policy of the present administration of Mexican matters has been largely responsible for the continued loss of American lives in that country and upon our border; for the enormous loss of American and foreign property; for the lowering of American standards of morality and social relations with Mexicans and for the bringing of American ideals of justice and national honor and political integrity into contempt and ridicule in Mexico and throughout the world.

The policy of the wordy, futile, written protest against the acts of Mexican officials, explained the following day by the president himself as being meaningless and not intended to be considered seriously or enforced, has but added in degree to that contempt and has earned for us the sneers and jeers of Mexican bandits, and added insult upon insult against our national honor and dignity.

We should not recognize any Mexican government unless it be a responsible government, willing and able to give sufficient guarantees that the lives and property of American citizens are respected and protected; that wrongs will be promptly corrected and just compensation will be made for injury sustained. The republican party pledges itself to a consistent, firm and effective policy towards Mexico that shall enforce respect for the American flag and that shall protect the rights of American citizens lawfully in Mexico to security of life and enjoyment of property, in connection with an established international law and our treaty rights.

The republican party is a sincere friend of the Mexican people in its insistence upon the maintenance of order for the protection of American citizens within its borders. A great service will be rendered the Mexican people themselves for a continuation of present conditions means disaster to their interest and patriotic aspirations.

ARMISTICE OF ARMENIA.

We condemn President Wilson for asking congress to empower him to accept a mandate for Armenia. The acceptance of such mandate would throw the United States into the very maelstrom of European quarrels. According to the estimate of the Harbord commission, or asked by authority of President Wilson, we would be called upon to send 50,000 American boys to police Armenia and to expend $276,000,000 in five years. This estimate is made up on the basis that we would have only roving bands to fight but in case of a serious trouble with the Turks or with Russia, a force exceeding 200,000 would be necessary.

No more striking illustration can be found of President Wilson's disregard of the lives of American boys or American interests.

We deeply sympathize with the people of Armenia and stand ready to help them in all proper ways, but the republican party will oppose now and hereafter the acceptance of a mandate for any country in Europe or Asia.

Strange Hues In Interior decorations

PARIS.—Never has the fad for interior decorating been as great as at present. Velvet wall coverings, among other things, in strange futuristic hues, are all the rage. Mme. Edmond Rostand, widow of the great poet, has just completed the arrangements of her new house, and her reception room is paneled in peacock green velvet, hand-painted, with panels of deep purple and silver. The curtains are made of ostrich tips sprayed with silver dewdrops and bordered with purple velvet.

BLOW AT LIQUORLESS BARS

ONE of the larger cities has taken a step which probably will result in licensing liquorless bars as a means of raising more revenue, which is sadly needed by all cities, and for regulating them to a certain extent. The fee suggested and which the council of the city probably will approve is $200 a year.

Of course cities taking such action will substitute the ladylike words "refreshment parlor" or similar ones for the old words "bar" and "saloon" in the license ordinance. The larger cities more than those the size of Lima have found trouble in regulating the places since the police have been deprived of their one weapon—the recommendation that licenses be revoked—as was the case when saloons existed. A city fee which would place the thirst parlors under the direct control of the administration is believed to be practically the only way in which regulation can be secured.

The license fee would be most acceptable to cities now in straightened circumstances, but it would operate to the disadvantage of the small dealers who handle soft drinks "on the side." The larger places would not object to a fee of $200 or even $500, probably, since it would tend to drive out the "little fellows" and give them a monopoly on the drink business. In Lima one may buy most any kind of soft drinks in groceries and other places which did not even consider handling them before prohibition became effective.

This city has not lost a large number of the former saloons, many of the proprietors having retained their locations and operate soft drink establishments. In some cases former saloonists have held on until the liquor question was definitely settled, believing that some change might be made which would allow them to again engage in their old business. Since the Supreme court has passed on prohibition and declared it legal, it is probable that many of these places will be closed.

The license system for liquorless saloons in Lima, while it would bring into the city money greatly needed for operation, would be an unjust discrimination and would work a hardship on small dealers and would not be advisable unless a general business tax were to be imposed.

COMBATING PETTY GRAFT

AN organization which is now making considerable headway in this country has for its purpose the stamping out of petty graft—tipping or gratuities of any sort. It is the intention of the organization to enlist enough men and women throughout the land to permanently put a stop to this curse, for such it has become in our country.

Those who have patronized modern restaurants and other public places to any extent have felt the effects of the system of tipping, for if they are not liberal, they are slighted and get only such service as it is absolutely necessary for the haughty waiters to give them. The system has extended to our barber shops, Pullmans, hotels, and practically all places where the public pays a fair if not high price for the service and accommodations received.

Women have taken up the practice and are bribing good service out of persons to whom they are already paying a high price for what they get. It is true, however, that the tipping fad is not so prevalent among women as it is among men.

One writer recently inquired: "Are we approaching an age in which we meet one another with scowls and indifference unless we are assured of a reward for common politeness?" and another said: "It seems to have come to pass now that waiters in restaurants and bellhops in hotels give very little service unless they are tipped. In many instances they are impudent if they do not receive a tip for services."

With these conditions existing, it is apparent that the organization working against the tipping practice may perform a great service to the public if it is able to make tipping unpopular. It is to be hoped that it will succeed in its mission.

A SLOGAN FOR LIMA

THE public is being asked by the Lima Advertising club to perform a big task—write a slogan for Lima. The club has arranged a contest in which the winner will not only be amply repaid for his or her efforts in money, but will have the gratification of being the author of a slogan that probably will stand for years and will be used throughout the country in advertising one of the best small cities in the world.

The person who writes the slogan which is adopted will have performed one of the biggest services to Lima in recent years. With this in mind, it should be the determination of those submitting suggestions to work out something that will be comprehensive, catchy and dignified as befits a modern, flourishing municipality. The slogan will be sent out broadcast and the city in time will come to be known by it almost as much as by its real name—Lima.

The Advertising club is to be complimented on its interest in this matter and the public for its desire to render a service of such great importance.

HEALTH HINTS FOR TODAY

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

SAVE THE WRAPPER—17

Cave dwellers setting out on a vacation should remember that sunlight is a powerful chemical agent and take it with caution. A skin not protected by long exposure to the sun contains little pigment and can endure but brief sunbaths without burning. If the naked skin is to be exposed to direct sunlight it is advisable to limit the periods of exposure to perhaps five minutes three times a day at first, and gradually increase each sunbath five minutes each succeeding day. This will prevent disagreeable sunburn and bring about gradual tanning. It is the system adopted in institutions such as that at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where tuberculosis of various parts of the body is treated successfully by exposure of the body to the sun. Those who like to acquire a deep coat of tan on vacation will find the system good. Those whose skin is pale from long cave-dwelling will find it comfortable. There is nothing healthful about a coat of tan itself. But there is great healthfulness in exposure to sunlight. Sunlight is a natural stimulant of the blood-making glands and structures of the body. There is generally a 10 per cent increase in the amount of hemoglobin and red corpuscles present in the blood after the first week of daily exposure of even a small part of the body to direct sunlight. Those with untanned skins who are necessarily exposed to sunlight may save discomfort by smearing the exposed face and hands with cold cream and powdering heavily over this; or if it is a case of intense exposure, applying heavy grease paint. Sunburn is not different from burns by fire or from scalding, and it is to be treated in a similar fashion. A first degree burn (redness without blistering) requires merely some freshly prepared cold cream or zinc oxide ointment. If blisters rise they should be carefully preserved, to be punctured with a sterile needle only in the event that the fluid becomes pus (matter), not while the fluid remains watery and clear, if possible.

JUDITH of BLUE LAKE RANCH

By JACKSON GREGORY

JUDITH TAKES A HAND

Bayne Trevors, general manager of the Blue Lake Ranch, which is nearly defunct. One of its owners, a young man named Hampton, demands a payment in the sum of $3,000.00, and as there are no funds from which to draw, the manager asks the form, Bud Lee, to sell some of the choice stock at a great sacrifice, which the foreman declines to do. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

The quiet of the morning was broken by the quick thud of a horse's hoofs on the hard ground of the courtyard. Bud Lee in the doorway turned to see a strange horse draw up at a standstill, a slender figure which in the early light he mistook for a boy, slip out of the saddle. And then, suddenly, a girl, the spurs of her little riding-boots making jingling music on the veranda, her riding-quirt swinging from her wrist, had stepped by him and was looking with bright, snapping eyes from him to Trevors.

"I am Judith Sanford," she announced briefly, and there was a note in her young voice which went ringing bell-like, through the still air. "Is one of you men Bayne Trevors?"

A quick, shadowy smile came and went upon the lips of Bud Lee. It struck him that she might have said in just that way: "I am the Queen of England and I am running my own kingdom." He looked at her with eyes filled with open interest and curiosity, making swift appraisal of the flush in the sun-browned cheeks, the confusion of her dark, curling hair disturbed by her furious riding, the vivid, red-blooded beauty of her mouth and eyes and the very carriage of the dark head upon her superb white throat.

Upon her superb white throat announced boldly and triumphantly that there was no waxpainted lily of the lady but rather a maid whose blood like the blood of the father before her, was turbulent and hot and must boil like a wild mountain-stream at opposition. Her eyes, a little darker than Trevors's, were the eyes of fighting stock.

Trevors, irritated already, turned hard eyes up at her from under corrugated brows. He did not move in his chair. No, did Lee stir except that now he removed his hat.

"I am Trevors," said the general manager curtly. "And whether you are Judith Sanford or the Queen of Siam, I am busy right now."

"He got the queen idea, too!" was the quick thought back of Bud Lee's fading smile.

"You talk soft with me, Trevors!" cried the girl passionately. "If you want to hold your job five minutes! I'll tolerate none of your high and mighty airs!"

Trevors laughed at her, a sneer in his laugh. "I talk the way I talk," he answered roughly. "If people don't like the sound of it they don't have to listen! Lee, you round up those seventy-three horses and crowd them over the ridge to the lumber camp. Or, if you want to quit, quit now and I'll send a same man."

The hot color mounted higher in the girl's face, a new anger leaped up in her eyes.

"Take no orders this morning that I don't give," she said, for a moment turning her eyes upon Lee. And to Trevors: "Busy or no busy, you take time right now to answer my questions. I've got your report and all they tell me is that you are going in the hole as fast as you can. You are spending thousands of dollars needlessly. What business have you got selling off my young steers at a sacrifice. What in the name of folly did you build those three miles of fence for?"

"Go get those horses, Lee," said

Trevors, ignoring her. Again she spoke to Lee, saying crisply: "What horses is he talking about?"

With his deep gravity at its deepest, Bud Lee answered: "All L-S stock. The eleven Red Duke three-year-olds; the two Robert the Devil colts; Brown Babe's filly, Comet—"

"All mine, every running hoof of 'em," she said, cutting in. "What does Trevors want you to do with them? Give them away for ten dollars a head or cut their throats?"

"Look here—" cried Trevors angrily, on his feet now.

"You shut up!" commanded the girl sharply. "Lee, you answer me!"

"He's selling them fifty dollars a head," he said with a secret joy in his heart as he glanced at Trevors's flushed face.

"Fifty dollars!" Judith gasped. "Fifty dollars for a Red Duke colt like Comet?"

She stared at Lee as though she could not believe it. Her merely stared back at her, wondering just how much she knew about horse-flesh.

Then, suddenly, she whirled again upon Trevors.

"I came out to see if you were a crook or just a fool," she told him, her words like a slap in the face. "No man could be so big a fool as that! You—you crook!"

The muscles under Bayne Trevors's jaws corded. "You've said enough," he shot back at her. "And even if you do own a third of this outfit, I'll have you understand that I am the manager here and that I do what I like."

From her bosom she snatched a big envelope, tossing it to the table. "Look at that," she ordered him.

"You big thief! I've mortgaged my holdings for fifty thousand dollars and I've bought in Timothy Gray's share. I swing two votes out of the three now, Bayne Trevors. And the first thing I do is run you out, you great big grafting fathead!"

She would chuck Lee Sanford's outfit to the dogs, would you? Get off the ranch. You're fired!"

"You can't do a thing like this!" snapped Trevors, after one swift glance at the papers he had whisked out of their covering.

"I can't, can't I?" she jeered at him. "Don't you feel your self for one little minute? Pack your trunk and hammer the trail."

"I'll do nothing of the kind. Why, I don't know even who you are! You say that you are Judith Sanford. And he shrugged his massive shoulders.

"How do I know what game you are up to? Wayward maidens," and in his rage he sneered at her evilly. "I've known known before to lie like other people."

"You can't bluff me for two seconds, Bayne Trevors," she blazed at him. "You know who I am, all right. Send for Sunny Harper," she cried sharply.

"Discharged three months ago," Trevors told her with a show of teeth.

"Johnny Hodge, then," she commanded. Or Tod Bruce or Bing Kelley. They all know me."

"Plead long ago, all of them," laughed Trevors, "to make room for competent men."

"To make room for more crooks!" she cried, her own brown hands balled into fists scarcely less hard than Trevors's had been. Then for the third time she turned upon Lee.

"You are one of his new thieves, I suppose?"

"Thank you, ma'am," said Bud Lee gravely.

"Well, answer me. Are you?"

"No, ma'am," he told her, with no hint of a twinkle in his calm eyes. "Leastwise, not this exactly. You see, I do all my killing and high-way robbery on my own hook. It's just a way I have."

"Well," Judith sniffed, "I don't know. It will be a jolt to me if there's a square man left on the ranch! Go down to the bunk-house and tell the cook I'm here and I'm hungry as a wildcat. Tell him and any of the boys that are down there that I've come to stay and that Trevors is fired. They take orders from me and no one else. And hurry, if you know how. Goodness knows, you look as though it would take half an hour to turn around!"

"Thank you, ma'am," said Bud Lee. "But you see I had just told Trevors here he could count me out. I'm not working for the Blue Lake any more. As I go down to the corral, shall I send up one of the boys to take your orders?"

There was a little smile under the last words, just as there was a little in Bud Lee's heart at the thought of the boys taking orders from a little slip of a girl. Inside he was chuckling, vastly delighted with the comedy of the morning.

"She a sure-enough little wonder-bird, all right," he mused. "But, say, what does she want to butt in on a man's-size job for, I want to know?"

"Lee," called Trevors, "you take orders from me or no one on this ranch. You can go now. And just keep your mouth shut!"

Bud Lee stood there in the doorway, his hat spinning upon a brown forefinger, his thoughts his own. He was turning to go out and down to his horse when he saw the look in Trevors's eyes, a look of consuming rage. The general manager's voice had been loose.

"I guess," said Lee quietly, "that I'll stick around until you two get through quarrelling. I might come in handy somehow."

"Get out!" shouted Trevors.

"Cut out the swear-words, Trevors," said Lee with quiet sternness. "There's a lady here."

"Lady!" scoffed Trevors. He laughed contemptuously. "Where's your lady? That?" and he levelled a scornful finger at the girl. "A ranting tough of a female who brings a breath of the stables with her and scolds like a fish-wife."

"Shut up!" said Lee, crossing the room with quick strides, his face thrust forward a little.

"You shut up!" It was Judith's voice as Judith's hand fell upon Bud Lee's shoulder, pushing him aside over a job like running the Blue Lake? Now—"and with blazing eyes she confronted Trevors—"if you've got any more nice little things to say, suppose you say them to me!"

Trevors's temper had had ample provocation and now stood naked and hot in his hard eyes. In a blind instant he laid his tongue to a word which would have sent Bud Lee at his throat. But Judith stood between them and, like an echo, "the word the resounding slap as Judith's open palm smote Trevors's cheeks."

"You wildcat!" he cried. And his two big hands flew out, seeking her shoulders.

"Stand back!" called Judith. "Just because you are bigger than I am, don't make any mistake! Stand back, I tell you!"

Bud Lee marvelled at the swift-ness with which her hand had gone into her blouse and out again, a small-caliber revolver in the steady fingers now. He had never known a man—himself possibly excepted—quicker at the draw.

But Bayne Trevors, from whose make-up cowardice had been omitted laughed sneeringly at her and did

YOUR NAME

VARIAIONS—Red, Red, Red
RACIAL ORIGIN—Anglo-Saxon

There is no more elemental human trait than the tendency toward the use of descriptive nicknames. Indeed, in a sense, all names originally were nicknames, since the first use of any name either as a given name or a surname was definitely descriptive of some distinguished peculiarity in the person to whom it was applied.

And in this connection it is interesting to note that among certain classes of our population today, ranging from the schoolboy and the college youth to the burglar and gunman, the descriptive nickname is more commonly used than the true family name. Thus, even now, we have our Reddy Jake, our Lefty Louis, and our Gyp the Blood.

The first use of the surname Red in England of the Middle Ages is traceable directly to this elemental human trait. The word is Anglo-Saxon. It means "red." In fact it is the same word. The old spelling was "rede." The old records contain many such entries of names as "Hamo le Rede," "John Redehead," "Adam de Redmayne," "Robert Red-man" and the like.

The fact that Red, as well as the single-syllable variations of the name, are not spelled Red is due to the fact that very shortly after surnames became hereditary rather than descriptive, people forgot the original truth of the descriptive association and accepted them merely as names. It was through this period, too, that spelling was in no wise standardized and largely a matter of the individual writer's whim.

not stand back. His two hands out before him, his face crimson, he came on.

"Fool!" cried the girl. "Fool!"

Still he came on. Lee gathered himself to spring.

Judith fired. Once, and Trevors's right arm fell to his side. A second time, Trevors's left arm hung limp like the other. The crimson was gone from his face now. It was dead white. Little beads of sweat began to form on his brow.

Lee turned astonished eyes to Judith.

"Now you know who's running this outfit, don't you?" she said coolly. "Lee, have a team hitched up to carry Trevors wherever he wants to go. He's not hurt much; I just winged him. And then tell the cook about my breakfast."

But Lee stood and looked at her. He had no remark to offer. Then he turned to go upon her bidding. As he went down to the bunk-house he said softly under his breath: "Well, I'm damned. I most certainly am!"

REID PICTURE IS WELL RECEIVED

Fans Like Improbable Plot of "Double Speed"

PRETTY GIRL IS INCLUDED

Other News of Lima Theaters and Offerings

BY ESTHER WAGNER

ANOTHER "Wally Reid" picture that seemed to make an immense hit with the fans, judging from the number of people at the first performance, is "Double Speed" which opened at the Faurot yesterday.

In this picture misfortune meets him, which it hardly ever does, and he goes his way unshorn and wearing on his noble stature clothes that were never meant for that same noble stature. He starts out being a wealthy New Yorker who, after a swell party to his "crowd" leaves for distant California in his little roadster, all by himself. While on his way a trio of hobos encounter him, and while Wally peacefully sleeps, they make off with his machine, his clothes, well everything but his watch and a piece of a blanket. And Los Angeles, 1,000 miles or more away, does he get there. He does. And once there he becomes a chauffeur for a beautiful blonde, whose feet just fit the slippers. What slippers? Ah—let the picture tell you, that too.

Wanda Hawley is the blonde young lady, and there's plenty of romance and fun, even if the plot is improbable. And Mr. Reid, isn't he the handsome hero, tho?

SOCIETY CLUBS HOME

By MARGARET SIMPSON

One of the most handsome, yet quite informal weddings of the June season, brought together relatives Thursday evening, to witness the marriage of Postmaster J. E. Sullivan and Mrs. Sullivan's only child, Miss Margaret Marion, to Edwin Conway Brown, Beaumont, Texas.

Rev. Father Leonard Plummer, pastor of St. John's Catholic church, where the bride worshiped, celebrated the nuptial ceremony at St. John's rectory, 799 S. Main-st.

The hour was a 6:30 o'clock, just as the sun was hiding behind the western sky, forming a picturesque setting.

Mrs. Emmett Curtin, herself a bride of April, was matron of honor. She wore her wedding gown of ivory satin, bouffant fashion, and carried a bouquet of vari-colored flowers.

Charles M. Wynn, New Orleans, served as best man.

The bride robes were fashioned of ivory satin, the long train misted with a veil of rare Princess lace, falling from a becoming cap of lace and orange blossoms. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

A reception followed at the Sullivan home, 221 S. Jameson-ave. Baskets of roses and lilies lent fragrance and beauty to the room.

Tail, cathedral canopies of white, tied with knots of yellow ribbon, lighted the rooms at twilight.

A trio made up of harp, cello, and violin gave a delightful musical program during the serving of a buffet supper and Mrs. Harry Gayer, an intimate friend of the bride.

"When Love Like the Dawn Comes Stealing," by Gudekunst.

Mrs. Sullivan, the bride's mother, was charmingly gowned in coral georgette, beaded in black and carried orchids and sunset roses.

Mrs. Horace Mann, Trenton, N. J., an aunt, wore black georgette, and carried lavender orchids.

Mrs. Ella O'Hara, Marion, Ohio, another aunt, was charming in a modish gown of soft, summery weave.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown left later in the evening for an extended trip to New York, Atlantic City and eastern points. They will return by way of Chicago and later proceed to their home in Beaumont, where Mr. Brown is engaged in the real estate business.

Mrs. Brown's going away costume was a blue tricotette suit with a modish hat of brown.

Out of town guests included: Mrs. Horace Mann, Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. O'Hara, Marion, Ohio; Mrs. Mary O'Brien, and daughter, Miss Emma; Mrs. Clarence Willford, New Orleans; Mrs. S. Chelms, Lafayette, Ind.; Mrs. Laura Owen, Chicago; Miss May O'Brien, Salamanca, N. Y.; Mrs. Avis Alexander, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Edward Harrison, Ranger, Texas, is visiting with his mother, Mrs. P. Harrison, W. North-st.

At the meeting of the Homeowners club held at the home of Mrs. Leo Poulsen on Thursday afternoon the election of officers for the ensuing year took place. Mrs. Edward Holser being chosen president, Mrs. Richie, vice-president, Mrs. Johns, secretary, Mrs. William Hilly, critic, and Mrs. A. Fritz, press reporter.

At 4 o'clock the hostess assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Goodie served a delicious luncheon. This was the final meeting of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. McCabe Howe, Hughes Terrace, will entertain a circle of friends with a dinner at the Shawnee Country club. Covers will be laid for ten.

Rev. and Mrs. Kyle Booth are entertaining as their guest, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Amhurst.

P. J. Sullivan, Yuma, Arizona, will be the guest of his sister, Mrs. A. P. Zender, 218 S. Metcalf-st., following the Republican convention in Chicago.

A musical program will be given at the South Side Church of Christ in the interest of the leper patients in the United States. Mrs. Winona Vinson Forrer, will give several readings; Mrs. Joe Davison, Miss Corinne Snyder, and Charles Wagner will sing. Miss Esther Ridenour and Miss Mildred Parletta will play several piano numbers.

The speakers of the evening are to be Mrs. Creps, Mrs. Fenwick and Mrs. Curry.

Master Charles Copeland, 855 W. Spring-st., greeted eight of his little friends on Thursday evening in honor of his eighth birthday anniversary. At 6 o'clock the little guests were seated at a beautifully arranged table, where an elaborate dinner was served by Mrs. Bessie Copeland, assisted by Miss Pauline Hurt and Mrs. Wagner. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out with a huge birthday cake centering the table. Master Charles was the recipient of many attractive gifts.

Those in attendance were: Robert McClain, Ned Culp, Harold and Norman Burnett, Jack Ellstrom, Robert Motter and John Crawford.

Mrs. Carl Means is spending the week-end in Granville attending the graduation exercises. Miss Lois Means is a member of the graduation class this year.

Mrs. Alice Zimmerman, who has been spending the winter months in Baton Rouge has returned, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Leonard, who will spend the summer here.

The members of the Normal Class of the Central High school enjoyed a dinner at the Hotel Norval on Thursday evening. The affair was given as a farewell to the pleasure of their instructor, Miss Mattos.

Covers were laid for: Misses Thelma Chavens, Pauline Fisher, Jennie Holmes, Charles Hall, Beatrice Jacobs, Esther Kilborn, Nell Lang, Ruby Metzger, Frances Miller, Mayne Newland, Naomi Parker, Esther Rosenbloom, Helen Fox, Alice Rosfeld, Juanita Toy, Lucille Wood and Miss Mattos.

Mrs. J. E. Doltz was hostess to the members of the Fillet club at her home on Thursday evening. Peonies and iris made the rooms of the Doltz home additively attractive.

Musical and vocal club were the diversion of the evening and in a clever contest Miss Maria Wilcox and Mrs. E. Sherrick were successful among the members and the guest prizes were awarded to Miss Clementine Powell and Mrs. Ora M. Green. At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Miss Myrtle and Miss Powell. Guests were Mrs. Ora M. Green and daughter, Miss Lucille, Mrs. A. D. Berkley Rudely Shocked Over "Love Pact" of Roths

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Arnold Roth

BERKELEY, Cal.—(Staff Special)

Conventional Berkeley, Athens of the West, does not know whether to be shocked or merely amused at the disclosure of one of the most remarkable "love pact" on record.

Most are inclined to apply the old adage that "all's well that ends well" and consider the "marriage" of Miss Lillian Stowell McCarthy, Los Angeles society bud, to Arnold Edward Roth, professional musician, sans ceremony, a closed incident now that a certificate of marriage reposes in their love bower—a quaint Berkeley bungalow.

Despite the fact that the Roths have satisfied convention, who appeared on the scene in the form of Miss McCarthy's irate father, E. Avery McCarthy, millionaire Los Angeles broker, neither the bride nor groom are converts to matrimony via the marriage altar.

"We loved each other," that was all that was necessary," declared the young bridegroom, a composer and a violinist. "Why go thru a silly ceremony that meant nothing to us? Immoral? Why, there can't be anything more immoral than the present state of matrimony."

"We started out in our own way here. We are happy. We felt that we were mates—not the kind of mates united in many of the marriages of today, but true lovers—congenial, trusting and happy. But Lillian's folks made life miserable for her. They declared that I was degrading her morals—these meddlesome folks who were too lazy to think for themselves. They married our happiness with their constant interference. I could not bear to see the girl I loved suffer any longer. If a silly service would make them all feel better they could have it if only they would let us love in peace. And so we were married, not because we wanted the ceremony, but because it would rid us of the annoyance of having these people around. We still have our ideas of a true marriage, but we don't force them on people."

"If there is true love that is all that is necessary for happiness in any occasion. That is all the tie that is needed for people to live together. Yes, this is what they call 'free love,' I suppose. But what are we coming to in this country?"

What "Love Pact" Couple Have to Say of Marriage

Here is what Arnold Edward Roth and his wife say about existing social customs: Women marry because it is the easiest way to acquire property and worldly goods. If a silly service would make them feel better they could have it and so we were married.

We don't believe in family ties—we can't choose our relatives, but we don't have to tolerate them. We are both free to do as we please and go when we please. If there are children, let the state take care of them.

Easy divorces are nothing more or less than concessions to these ideas. The easier divorce is made the nearer we will come to having freedom in our personal relations.

"If today or tomorrow I should meet another woman whom I was sure I loved I would tell Lillian and I would feel free to leave her immediately and go to my new mate," declared Roth. "And Lillian knows she has same privilege. I would not seek to hold her one instant after I knew her heart was elsewhere."

"That is right," assented the bride. "We are both free to do as we please and we know it."

Concerning children of "love pacts" Roth and his wife have equally definite ideas.

"Let the State take care of them," is the way the husband tosses away the problem of providing for the offspring of couples who no longer feel the ties of love binding them and are eager for new associations.

"It is better for the State to provide for children than to have them bred in an atmosphere of hate," said Roth. "It is ridiculous to think that children should keep misadvised couples together. Better let the child go with one parent than it become contaminated with the hatred which ill-matched couples must feel for each other. Children of today are mis-educated, anyhow. The child is usually used by parents as a medium upon which to try all the things in which they themselves failed in their lives. As a consequence children are bound by the whims or follies of parents. They can have no soul of their own. It is to the interest of the State that children are born. Let it provide for them."

Not all of Mrs. Roth's relatives frowned upon her unique defiance of convention. "My mother had no objections to the ideas which the rest of my family declared 'immoral,'" declared the bride.

bride. "She sent us her blessing."

After a divorce from E. Avery McCarthy the girl's mother became Mrs. J. J. Moore and later married Major I. W. Colleton after Moore had been fatally wounded by a chauffeur following closely on sensational divorce proceedings at Redwood City. She now lives in the East.

WHISKEY PRESCRIBED 500,000 TIMES IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO.—Of a half million prescriptions for liquor written by Chicago physicians since the Dry law went into effect, 300,000 have been spurious, according to an estimate of Captain Howard, Federal Prohibition Director of Illinois, as he prepared for the hearings to be given to twenty physicians and as many druggists of Chicago, who are charged with evading the amendment.

"One physician, bedfast and unable to visit his patients, managed to write 200 prescriptions in two days during the first days of prohibition," he said.

LOVE AND MARRIED LIFE

By IDAH MCGLOTH GIBSON

MARY'S MONEY

I noticed, however, that John was determined not to find any fault with me on any subject, and again I blessed my baby, for I thought probably she would make him more considerate of me in the future as she was doing now.

"What are you going to do with this $25,000, Katherine?" asked John.

"Why, we are not going to do anything with it, John," I answered. "It isn't ours; it is Mary's."

"Don't you think we might put it into the new house and turn the house over to her?"

"I think it would look very strange to Charles. Are you hard pressed for money, John, so much so that you are worrying about the payments on the house?"

"No," answered John slowly. "It just occurred to me that it would be very nice to pay off the house immediately."

My heart sank, as I understood that this was not what John was thinking about at all. The thing that was uppermost in his mind was the fact that here was $25,000 belonging to some one of his family, and that as such he should dispose of it in any way he pleased.

To Invest It for Mary

"What I would like to do with it, John, or rather what I would suggest being done with it is that we should ask Charles to invest it for Mary."

"I don't see why he should do that."

"Well, it would be a rather graceful thing to do. He intends it for Mary, you know."

"Well, it will be against my judgment to do anything of the kind with this check."

"And it is against my judgment," I retorted, "that either you or I have anything to do with the disposal of it."

"I can't understand, Katherine, why you are so averse to your husband having the management of any money that belongs to you or your child."

"Simply because, John, when you get your hands on any money you look upon it as yours and you manipulate it in any way you please without consulting me; and worse than that, you never allow me access to it without your consent, which is always given very grudgingly."

"You are always harping on this question. I never could understand why a woman whose bills are all paid, as yours are, should need any money. I should think you would be glad to have some man pay your bills. If you only knew what hard work it was to make money I am sure you would be glad to have someone relieve you of the details in spending it. All you have to do is to go and buy what you want. Your credit is good anywhere."

"Yes, I think my credit is good anywhere except with you, John."

New Woman

"Say, Katherine, are you going to get these new woman notions?"

I have heard enough of that sort of thing from Alice lately, and I have seen a good deal of her since she came home. Did you know she had gone into politics? I should think Tom would get so tired of hearing her tell of the principles and programs of her party, and what the women were going to do in the election, that he would apply for a divorce.

"If Alice wasn't such a pretty woman I don't believe any man could stand for her. She doesn't seem to understand that in the mind of the masculine sex a good complexion means more than a good argument. I don't want to argue with women. When I argue I want to sit down comfortably with a man where I can swear at him if necessary. I want to be able to tell him where to get off. But when I talk to a woman I want to compliment her and have her flatter me."

"In other words, you want airy persiflage and flattering from a pretty woman's lips and cold logic and stern facts when you talk with a man."

"Yes, that's the idea perfectly—variety is the spice of life, you know."

I turned impatiently. Such talk was an insult to my intelligence.

Tomorrow—The Old Struggle.

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

LINDSEY IS AN ARTIST FIRST

Finished Jeffery's head this afternoon, with a grand flourish. It happens to be one of the best things I have done, even tho I do say it myself. I believe in self-encouragement.

Aunt Cecilia allowed us to be unchaperoned for a whole hour; that's because she knows me so well. When she came into the studio and saw my finished production, she just sat down and said, "Oh, Lindsey, you have given me such happiness." She's so wonderfully sentimental, dear aunt. But it was Jeffery, all right. And Jeffery with his whole soul in his eyes. If you get me. That's why I had Aunt Cecilia around when I painted him. I just knew that she would bring out that rare expression in his face. Am I clever?

I told them that I was going to exhibit the portrait in the fall, and we had a small argument, for aunt seems to feel that this painting is too personal a thing to be gazed at by the public somehow or after he had stared for some time. The man is just naturally canny.

"Why, it isn't you at all, darling," exclaimed Aunt Cecilia at me in perplexity. "I've never seen you look like that in my life" (shows what a good actress I am), "and, oh, that costume—why, you are not half covered, Lindsey!"

"Yes, ma'am," I answered, meekly enough. "But aside from all that, just as a painting don't you like it?"

"It's wonderfully painted—and full of feeling, dear, but I wouldn't ever exhibit it—never, never!"

And so there I stood lifting out at them from the canvas. In a bewildering swirl of green draperies, that covered about a foot of my body only; head tossed back, and green eyes a-slant; with two slender seeking arms stretched out—to what? That is the question. There might have been any title placed beneath that picture, tho in my heart but one could possibly suit it: "Youth in search of its birth-right."

I was glad that is impressed old Jeffery so deeply, for he is a knowledgeable, bird, and a good critic. Aunt is not—any more. She is allowing herself to be controlled by her emotions more and more as time rolls by. But then, maybe she is the happier for it. Far be it from me to criticize.

That painting of little me will go to the fall exhibition without a mentally deficient or something else like that happens. I am an artist first.

HOOISIERClub Plan Sale

Twice each year these club plan sales are held simultaneously all over the country. Many thousands of homes are made more comfortable because these sales are held.

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet has lifted kitchen work from a burdensome drudgery to a domestic pleasure. The endless routine of tiresome, back-breaking servitude, with its unnecessary steps and wasted hours, are a thing of the past when the Hoosier enters the kitchen.

Enjoy These Benefits

The Hoosier club plan is simplicity itself and makes it possible for every housewife to enjoy the benefits of this scientifically designed cabinet. The Hoosier club plan enables you to enroll as a club member. Pay $1.00 when you join. Pick out your Hoosier and it will be delivered at your home immediately. You complete paying for your cabinet in convenient amounts.

$1.00 Delivers Your Hoosier

The club plan is limited to one week only and is confined to a specific number of cabinets. When these are gone the sale must end. Previous sales have seen our entire allotment taken before the end of the week, and it is advisable to join the club and get your cabinet as early as possible.

The club plan enables you to secure this most helpful of household necessities by merely paying one dollar. The sale price is the lowest cash price at which these cabinets are sold anywhere.

A few of the many Hoosier conveniences and vital features are shown herein. These conveniences and their arrangement has made Hoosier the most popular cabinet.

Every day you delay is a day of needless weariness. Come tomorrow and join the Hoosier club. Begin to save time for more enjoyable things.

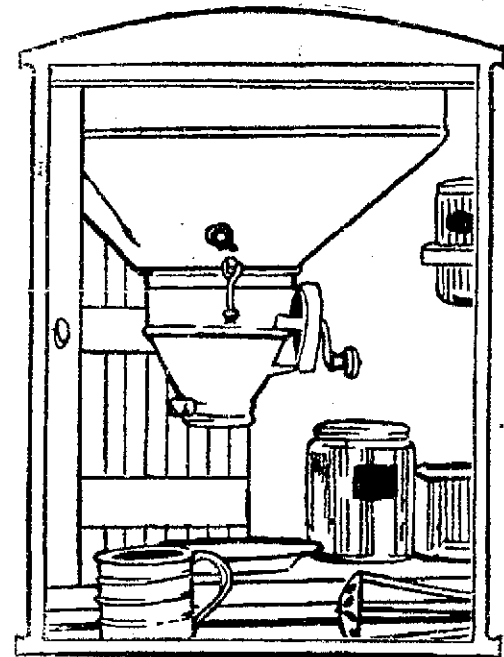

EMPIRE

FURNITURE & CARPET CO.

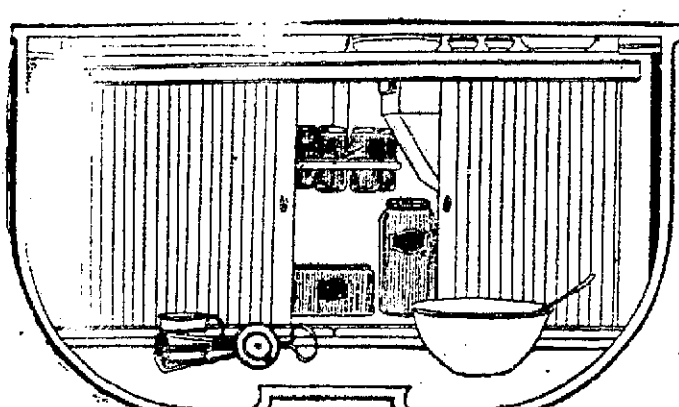

EMPIRE BLDG. 233-235 SOUTH MAIN ST. - LIMA, OHIO

The arrangement of the work space either makes or destroys the effectiveness of a kitchen cabinet. For here it is that 90 per cent of your work is done. Note the scientific arrangement of Hoosier's vital section—no partitions; nothing in the way, yet the most used conveniences are centered here. The table top is extra-size and can be had in either snow-white porcelain or pure aluminum.

Beyond question the Hoosier flour bin is the easiest to fill and keep clean. There is no possible place for dust or germs to lodge. Tightly fastened to the cabinet, it is never tilted, never spills, never jams or gets out of order. The patented flour shaker is flour tight, sifts four times faster, makes flour light and fluffy and wears far longer. It is easily removed for cleaning.

One of the most important parts about our cabinet is the arrangement of the doors over your work table. You can get your Hoosier with either roll doors or hinge doors. Hoosier roll doors are absolutely sanitary. They are the only ones that can be instantly removed for cleaning. There are no hidden places for food particles and dirt to collect. The hinge door models have some advantages of their own. Both are as convenient as it is possible to make them.

THE WOMAN WHO LOVED AND EARNED

JANE PHELPS

GERRY GROWS FIDGETY

Now that the flat was in order, all so clean in its coat of new paint, there was very little for me to do. Time began to hang heavily on my hands. I fretted at the inaction—inwardly of course. I developed nerves, the kind that won't let one sit still, but drive aimlessly from one thing to another.

"Do let us go somewhere!" I said rather impatiently one night, after Robert had unconsciously himself in an easy chair with his pipe.

"This is the nicest place to go to know of," he said settling down a little lower in the chair.

"That's all right for you to say! You aren't here all day as I am. Tell me as I should say if I don't get out."

Robert rose at once.

"I guess I have been a bit selfish, Jerry. Forgive me, dear. I have been so happy to come home to this, that I hadn't realized it was staying home for you. Where shall we go?"

"Oh, for a walk, the movies, Jerry's—anywhere so I can get rid of this nervousness."

"Suppose we walk up toward Murphy's. Then if you get tired we can take a car. Perhaps the walk will do you good—it's a lovely night."

Robert's face was very serious.

I walked so fast he called "Whoa!" once or twice. It seemed so as if running would make me feel better.

"It's pretty lonesome there alone today after being in the shop so long, isn't it, Gerry?"

"If I had more to do—I try to read it. I can't seem to keep my mind on anything very long. I could sew, but we don't really need anything more, and I hate to spend the money."

"You must get out more. Visit the girls during the day."

"I might do that occasionally. Someway, Robert, I have never thought of that. I never have been able to go places in the daytime. It never occurred to me, that now I might. Then, because he seemed worried, I added:

"Don't fret over me, Robert. I have a fit of nerves, that's all."

"That's enough. I wish I earned more, Gerry, so you could go to a matinee occasionally, or take the girls out to lunch, and the other things women do to pass the time. Perhaps I will soon, I know old Burch is pleased with me."

"Of course he is! Haven't you increased his business?"

We walked all the way to Murphy's. When Jane offered me a chair I sank into it gladly. I was tired. It was a long walk, but I was not nearly so nervous as when we started.

"We can't stay long," I said when Carson proposed bridge. "I only came out to walk off a feeling of nervousness."

"Then come on to my room, and leave the boys to smoke. I want you to tell me what to do to my hat. I have worn it several times so I can't return it, but neither Carson nor I like it—he says it makes me look old," Jane begged me.

"Carson is right! You look five years older in it," I said as she put it on. "Here, give it to me, some scissors, now pins and needle and thread." For half an hour we chatted, while I ripped, bent, planned. Then after trying the effect of what I had done on Jane, I threaded the needle and made my work permanent.

"How do you like it now Carson?" Jane went back to the boys. I followed in her wake.

"That's something like Gerry! It was an awful failure before." Then, "Mary should be here—she would say the fairies had been to work again."

"Oh, Gerry has something in the ends of her fingers the rest of us lack. Everything she touches, turns out well. I am so grateful, Gerry. I couldn't afford not to wear it, and yet I fairly hated myself every time I put it on."

"Better collect before you go," Carson teased. "We may not be good pay. Travelling artists should have a pay-on-delivery sign with them. How's that for an idea, Gerry? A travelling artist in hats! I'm a genius to conceive such a thing, eh Robert?"

Tomorrow—A Chance Meeting.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

The Tappen Auto Electric Co. are now located at 110 Water-st until their new building is completed.

PATTERN FOR TODAY

A POPULAR STYLE

White and green checked gingham. A white lawn for the guimpe would cool and attractive for this style. Also nice for cotton crepe, voile, seersucker, percale and chambray.

Pattern of this illustration sent to any address on receipt of cents in silver or stamps.

Address Pattern Department, Daily News and Times-Democrat, Lima, Ohio.

Hours that you now spend in your kitchen can be replaced by hours of pleasurable recreation. If you have an engaged woman who finds time for social activities while you are confined by your kitchen work, do not envy them any longer. Join the Hoosier club and you, too, will find more time to devote to the things you long to do. A Hoosier places kitchen work on the same efficient basis as labor saving devices in man's office.

About 20 men were in attendance. General agents in attendance at the session included: H. B. Heilmann, Philadelphia; S. P. Ellis, Cincinnati; W. P. Collier, Sidney; William McKelbert, Columbus; A. COLLEGE AIM OF 39 STUDENTS

More Lima Graduates Are As Yet Undecided

Thirty nine students from both Central and South high schools will enter college next year. This is a total of 29% of the graduating students.

This number was received after a definite inquiry had been made by Supt. Collins. There are others who are yet undecided.

There has been a deviation this year in the awarding of scholarships. Formerly honor certificates were given only to those ten who stood at the top of the class. Now scholarships are presented to any pupil who applies to and receives the recommendation of the principal of the school from which he graduates. A great number is planning on going to Ohio State and University of Michigan. Others are divided among Delaware, Ohio Northern, Case and Oberlin.

MORAN IS LOOKING FOR MATERIAL

(By Henry L. Farrell)

NEW YORK—Pat Moran is looking around.

The Red Sox looked around last year and picked one of the peaches of the year in Pat Moran, his hard hitting outfielder.

The famous Pittsburgher needs a couple of "Pats" right now.

John McGraw says a team is no stronger than its reserves. On that theory the Red Sox have been the weakest team in the National League. Moran has a good club, the same one that won the championship last year, but it's on the field all the time. His bench is barren.

He has two substitutes and five pinchers but Walter Reuther is his only reliable hurler. If the club runs into a string of accidents, the champions will be in a bad way. The indefinite suspension of Eddie Hough, the league's champion hitter, has brought out the glaring weakness of the club's second offense.

YANKS TOUTED AS WORLD'S CHAMPS

NEW YORK—Yankee fans are talking about the American League pennant and the world's series of 1929.

Ever since the Yanks got going, with the pitchers doing their share and "murderers" doing their share, Babe Ruth, slugging all kinds of pitching to all points of the compass, Gothamites have been indulging in sweet dreams. And not without reason.

Miller Huggins' outfit is blessed with a tremendous amount of rugged hitting and pitching ability. In Shawkey, Morridge, Quinn, Mays, Thormahlen, Shore and Russell they have a staff of wingers who can or should hold their own with any in the league. But best of all is the Yankee hitting team which there is no better in either league. The first Western road trip of the Clan Huggins will give Yankee supporters a much better line on their favorites. In past years Yankee teams have often blown up on the road, or suffered injuries to players that broke up a winning batting order and gave the old line an opportunity to get in his deadly work.

If the Yanks can win a majority of their games on the first swing around the western half of the American League circuit and then come home to settle down for another long series on the Polo Grounds, where they hit like demons, they will surely be a thorn in the sides of such teams as Cleveland, Chicago and Boston.

Long before the season opened—in fact, ever since Ruth became a member of the team—the Yanks were figured as sure pennant contenders. But they got away to a rather poor start and in the first two weeks of the race they did not begin to play up to their "paper strength."

Today, however, the Yanks have apparently managed to put up a pretty sweet fielding game despite the fact that Manager Huggins has been forced to shift the line-up a number of times. But Frank Baker isn't greatly missed and while Chick Fowler at his best would probably be playing second base in place of Del Pratt, the Yanks are getting by in grand shape.

Babe Ruth has "made" the team. The Big Bambling simply loves to play baseball and he is putting everything he has into every game. True, he goes up there and swings for home runs when it might sometimes be considered better baseball to wait 'em out or play 'em down. But there is no argument that will stand against the performance of such a prolific slugger, and there you are.

"Watch the Yanks from now on," is the tip that is going the rounds. And it is a sensible tip, for although no one expects to see New York spread-eagle the field in the home stretch toward Pennantville, there are plenty of folks who are willing to risk the thirty plate on New York's chances of getting into the 1929 world's series thru the medium of Clan Huggins.

Wampus Hums

YESTERDAY HERO — "Who a Bill" Rariden. The Cincinnati catcher singled in a pinch in the eleventh inning and drove the run that beat the Giants 2 to 1. Walter Reuther allowed only four hits in 11 frames.

Carl Mays tripped with the bases full, helping the Yankees beat the Tigers 7 to 5.

Babe Ruth hit his sixteenth homer.

Maranville's single in the ninth with two down gave the Braves a 2 to 1 win over the Pirates.

AMERICANS MAY WIN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON — America was considered to have not only a good chance to win the British Amateur Golf Championship but was rated as a close favorite for the open title in golf circles here today.

By winning the sixth and final round, Robert A. Gardner, the American amateur qualified to meet Cyrus Tolley, of Rye, a previous unknown, in the final for the amateur title.

Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, the American "pro" pair, by defeating George Duncan and Abe Mitchell in an exhibition match, earned the right to be rated very high for the British open championship in July.

STRONG TEAM FOR SUNDAY

"The days are past when baseball players indulge in the game for the love of the sport as they did when we were boys," said a prominent member of the Allen-co bar association to Bernie Holloran Friday.

The jurist followed this statement by relating the history of some of the scholastic teams of 20 years ago. One team of boys of 10 and 12 years old made weekly trips to Columbus Grove on bicycles, according to the narrator, and after the game received 10 cents each for lunch money before making the return trip.

To the lure of the movies and automobiles Holloran gave the credit for the notable shortage in players today in admitting that his informant's diagnosis of the baseball situation was correct.

The Lima club has been particularly fortunate in obtaining good players this season, he said, but the opposition has been notably weak, especially on pitchers. The greatest difficulty in Lima has been to keep umpires on the job. "Cappie" Wesels has left for service with a South Carolina league and Holloran is now dickering with Ft. Wayne for someone to fill the position in Sunday's game, he said.

An attempt is being made, according to Holloran, to make Sunday's game one which will compensate fully for the inferior teams which have played in Lima in the early part of the season. The Dayton Triangles hold the title of the 1919 world's amateur champions and after playing five games this season they stand a fair chance of repeating the record this year, having won all five from strong teams.

In order to show them a stiff game on the local lot Sunday in both games, Holloran said he has arranged to have two high class pitchers here in addition to Lowden, of the Toledo A. A. team.

The first game is to be called at 2 o'clock central standard time.

HARDING URGED AS NATION'S MOSES

Placed in Nomination for Presidency by Willis

HISTORY SEEN IN OHIOAN

Would Lead Party to Triumph, Convention is Told.

CHICAGO — Declaring that Republican success in 1920 is imperative and holding that Senator Warren G. Harding is the man to lead the party to victory in the November federal election, Frank B. Willis placed the Ohio candidate in nomination for the presidency before the national Republican convention here Thursday night. Willis' speech in urging the nomination of Harding was in part as follows:

Republican success is always desirable—in 1920 it is imperative. Called into being by Abraham Lincoln to save the Union, the Republican party merited its long years of triumphs thru its valiant service to the Republic and its promotion of the people's progress. It battled for national prosperity and sound finance under the leadership of Ohio's knight, William McKinley; it raised the victorious standard of the square deal and obedience to the law at the call of that stalwart, red-blooded American Theodore Roosevelt. But vast as are its achievements and brilliant as has been its leadership, the man nominated here today must be of a type big enough to enable him to look with level gaze to the leadership of other years, and to face undaunted problems more complex than those which confronted Washington or Lincoln. We have emerged from a world war victorious and unafraid; in that great struggle to maintain the national honor and preserve free government, prominent men Republicans on battlefields in Congress and in private life have given full share as Americans regardless of the repeated insult of the most bitterly partisan administration in the history of the Republic. And the official pronouncement that only a man who is patriotic, who is patriotic was to vote for the ticket of the party that won in 1916 because "he kept us out of war" and seek to win in 1920 because "he kept us out of peace."

PROBATION HAMSTRUNG
The nation is hampered and hamstrung by so-called government regulation of business by those who understand neither business nor government. To add to these domestic troubles, there is authority by a self-imposed mandate seized in the name of the people at the ballot box, have attempted to sign away by a stroke the independence won by the sword of Washington. The spirit of preserving loyalty to American government and institution, upheld by our President from Washington to Woodrow Wilson, has been superseded by a vulgar, unscrupulous, and patriotic that would scatter its affections indiscriminately among Bengalese and Bolsheviks and which would be unsatisfactory and trouble-making in international as in domestic affairs. From this hopeless state of unparalleled inefficiency, unheard of extravagance, unconstitutional usurpation of power and un-American bartering away of National Independence, the Republican party is called to rescue the country and save American institutions. The Democratic party is impotent to solve these problems because it has grown and fattened on the very evil policies and practices which must now be wiped out forever if the Republic is to live.

WATCHED BY HEROES

The Republican party here assembled, with the faces of the heroic dead looking down upon us and commanding us with mute lips to stand by the principles of the party and defend to the uttermost every American ideal, will go forth to victory on a platform pronouncing unequivocally in favor of constitutional government and obedience to law; in favor of repeal of wartime legislation not needed in times of peace but seized upon by a powerful grasping autocratic administration to perpetuate itself; in favor of legislation to promote industrial peace, not by protecting a rich man because he is rich nor a poor man because he is poor, because he is upright; in favor of the ratification of only such a peace treaty as, while fully discharging our obligation to other nations, will at the same time protect unequivocally every American right and reserve for decision by our own people exclusively, every purely American question; and in favor of the maintenance of the principle of an American, Protective Tariff and an American Merchant Marine. These are bound to be the dominant issues of the forthcoming campaign. Then why not name as our candidate the man whose record is the party platform, for the record of Ohio's candidate is the record of the Republican party in the last decade.

Ohio presents such a man for your deliberate consideration. He is a stalwart fighting Republican, who believes in the efficacy of representative government under party sponsorship, knowing and heeding the lessons of the past, his face is toward the future—he is not a professing progressive, but a performing progressive; and he is no better. The country needs the Republican party, the Republican party needs Ohio and Ohio needs the nomination of her candidate to insure success. We believe we can carry Ohio this year for the nominee of this convention whoever he may be and we pledge our undivided effort from now till November to bring that about, but with our candidate nominated victory is certain. The enemy carried Ohio in 1912 by 100,000 and in 1916 by nearly 30,000, yet in between times in 1914 a great forward-looking Ohio Republican was elected United States Senator by 103,000 majority and he carried along to victory the whole Republican State ticket with me on it and he can carry Ohio next November by 100,000 majority.

If we carried Ohio in 1916 a great Republican President would be in the White House today. If we carry Ohio in 1920 the nominee of this convention will be nominated President March 4th, 1921.

In the name of Ohio Republicans I present for your deliberate consideration the man who can carry Ohio and thus insure Republican triumph—that modest, dignified, substantial citizen, that aggressive, sane, cool-headed leader of men, that typical American, Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio.

LANCASTER, Pa.—Roy K. Muselman of New Holland, Penna., former army aviator, was killed and Behmer Litzitz, an aviation student, was severely injured when an airplane in which they were flying fell 2,000 feet.
